Tshombe, U.N. Reach Accord

Knife-Wielding Africans Running Amok In Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Katanga President Moïse Tshombe, thwarted in a move to seize the Elisabethville airport from U.N. forces, angrily called on his supporters today to get ready to fight the United Nations. Two hours later he ordered them off, but knife-wielding Africans already were running amok on roads leading to the airport. At mid-afternoon the strong man leader of secessionist Katanga Province ordered full mobilization and turned this capital city into an armed camp. He handed the U.N. forces an ultimatum to surrender the airport within two hours. Then, as tension mounted, Tshombe announced he and U.N. officials had reached an agreement to avert an explosion. Even as this was announced, frenzied Africans were milling about uniformed Swedish U.N. soldiers, attacking them with stones and smashing their cars. Two Swedish drivers were rescued by white members of the Katanga army. That army, the most disciplined in the Congo, is commanded by Tshombe but many of its officers are Belgians retained by Tshombe. Belgium formerly ruled this country. These were the events leading up to the Katanga crisis: A platoon of 24 Katanga soldiers, led by a Belgian officer, tried to seize the airport before dawn. A dozen Swedish soldiers at the airport thwarted the attempt. In a rage, Tshombe delivered his ultimatum and went direct to the capital's people. He told a screaming crowd of 10,000 that the Swedes must quit the airport within two hours or face attack by the capital's entire population. "The Swedes may not leave the airport in two hours," he shouted. "If not, I will ask all of you, together with the police and Katanga army, to march on the airport. You will fight, you will shoot, you will recapture the airport." But before the ultimatum was to take effect, Tshombe announced he had reached an agreement on control of the airport. He rescinded the ultimatum. U.N. officials said Tshombe had agreed that the airport should return to the joint control of Katanga authorities and the United Nations. Mobs already were on the road to the airport. Hemmed in by almost crazed Africans, who several times threatened with their knives, this correspondent watched attacks on two U.N. cars. The crowd halted the cars and threatened the Swedes with their knives. Others scrambled to the roadside to gather stones. They began to stone the Swedes in their cars and within minutes the windows were smashed on the two white vehicles. The occupants were bleeding. Some whites with the Katanga army forced their way through the mob to rescue the two Swedes. They forced the bleeding men to sit up and drive through the crowd, while Katanga troops clambered on the hoods. "Now we have made the U.N. prisoners," a soldier screamed to the mob. A short way down the road a group of angry Africans attacked a white woman. Police went to her rescue, but not before she was hacked several times across the body.

Option Obtained On Weirton Land For One Of 2 Buildings

The Hancock County Board of Education Monday night set May 16 for a special election on a $54 million bond issue for school expansion and modernization. In addition, the board announced it has optioned a 56-acre site in Weirton for $135,000 as the location for one of two new high schools proposed under the expansion program. The board earlier purchased a 97-acre tract of farmland near Pughtown as the site of a new senior high school to serve the northern part of the county. Supt. Robert H. Hall said: "The Board of Education has optioned a 56-acre plot of ground owned by the Weirton Steel Co. as the site for the new senior high school in Weirton. "The cost of the property is $135,000. This site is the Lee property located in the vicinity of the new Army Building on Weirton Heights." Selection of a date for the bond issue to be presented to voters in Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Pughtown and Weirton, and the naming of a site for the proposed high school in Weirton clears the way for the board to present the issue this spring. The board also announced that the program of instruction which will be developed with the construction of the needed facilities will include a new, 300-pupil elementary school for Chester, costing an estimated $302,600. The proposed schools were recommended for construction following a six-months survey of the system by a research staff of Ohio State University.

Panel Plans Study
Of 5 Criminal Cases

Miss Gladys DeBolt, 225 W. 4th St., retired East Liverpool High School teacher, was appointed foreman of the April Grand Jury today at Lisbon by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. She was appointed as a panel of 10 women and five men was sworn in to begin study of at least 16 criminal cases in which indictments have been sought. Other jurors are: Ethel Fryman, Lucille J. Desher, Marie Lowe, Frances V. McGaffie, and Wilda Congrove, all of East Liverpool; Margaret V. Massa, Elizabeth M. Schaefer, Doris Daley and Charles R. Haldi, all of Salem; Lee Cline of Wellsville, Eugene Tolson of Lisbon, Vincent Mundy of Salineville and Helen L. Wilson of Hanover. Immediately after it was sworn in, the Grand Jury made its customary inspection of the County Jail. Following lunch, the jurors were to hear presentments in the first five criminal cases, involving nine witnesses. The panel may conclude its investigations and report by Wednesday.

Unemployed
Claims Reach
Year's Peak

Unemployment in East Liverpool is like a balloon in a wind tunnel—unable to make any headway in the face of continuing setbacks. After showing a slight improvement in February and the first part of last month, the total number of claims handled at the Ohio State Employment Service office climbed to the highest peak of the year in March, Harry L. Dinsmore, manager, said. The total number of claims filed last month was 3,915, compared to 3,781 in February and 3,884 in January. New claims last month dropped to a year's low of 507 but continuing claims climbed to 3,408, Dinsmore said. In February, new claims totaled 646 and continuing claims were 3,145 while January's figures were 602 and 3,262. Indications show no quick improvement, Dinsmore noted, pointing out nearly 200 more claims were handled last week than in the previous period. "If this week continues the way it started Monday, the number of claims probably will be increased again," Dinsmore said. Total claims last week were 913 as against 723 for the week ending March 25 and 832 for the week ending March 18. The office has 1,124 seeking work and 55 job openings. It placed 38 workers last month, the manager said. The office work load is expected to be increased beginning Monday when it will begin to accept claims for extended benefits under the new federal law. Dinsmore reminded workers they should report on their regular reporting day which is based on the last digit of their Social Security number. Claimants with numbers ending in 0-1 report Mondays, 2-3 Tuesdays, 4-5 Wednesdays, 6-7 Thursdays and 8-9 on Fridays.

Says Castro Betrayed Revolution

U.S. Urges Cuban Regime To Sever Ties With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has urged Fidel Castro's Cuban regime "to sever its links with the international Communist movement." The statement, issued Monday, accused Castro of betraying the Cuban revolution and leading the Caribbean island into Communist bondage. It was the Kennedy administration's toughest indictment of Castro so far. The U.S. statement said it is the government's belief that "the Castro regime in Cuba offers a clear and present danger to the authentic and autonomous revolution of the Americas." "What began as a movement to enlarge Cuban democracy and freedom has been perverted, in short, into a mechanism for the destruction of free institutions in Cuba, for the seizure by international communism of a base and bridgehead in the Americas, and for the disruption of the inter-American system." The U.S. position—following in essence the lines drawn in the Eisenhower administration—was set forth in a 36-page pamphlet issued by the State Department. Press officer Lincoln White said "because of the tremendous public interest of the United States in Cuba, this pamphlet for public consumption is a straightforward presentation of the situation in Cuba." The pamphlet is a summation of U.S. government allegations and reports presented as U.S.-Havana relations worsened. Copies and Spanish-language texts were prepared for distribution throughout Latin America, to the Organization of American States, the International Organization of the 21 American republics, and for the United Nations.

Salary Cut Seen For Most Employees Of Courthouse

10 Per Cent Likely

$38,911 Dip
In Budget To Hit 5 Offices

Treasurer, Auditor,
Sheriff, Recorder,
Clerk Face Slashes

LISBON — Pay cuts for a major number of Columbiana County employees loomed today following a slash in appropriations for several county departments by county commissioners Monday. Commissioners approved a general fund budget of $1,129,327, compared to expenditures of $1,168,238 for 1960 — a cut of $38,911. Salary reductions of over 10 per cent face workers in the sheriff's department, auditor's office, treasurer's office, recorder's office and clerk of courts office. Commissioners, declaring the cutback is necessary so that the county can "operate in the black this year," reduced the salary appropriation of the five offices some 8 per cent. The two Probate Courts and Juvenile Courts and employees are not affected. Because the five offices paid three months salary at the previous scale — based on the 90-day temporary appropriation made by commissioners at the start of the year — the departments must cut back 10.66 per cent to make up for the loss in funds. It was indicated the departments can either slash salaries or reduce personnel.

Appropriation
For Schools
Is $1,862,619

$215,611 Increase
Reflects New Levies
Started In January

Appropriations totaling more than $1.8 million to operate city schools this year were adopted Monday night by the Board of Education. Acting on the recommendation of its finance committee, the board approved a total appropriation of $1,862,619, including $1,554,946 in general operating expenses. The total appropriation is $215,611 more than the $1,647,008 spent in 1960. The general fund has been increased by $147,117 over the $1,407,829 expended last year. The increased appropriation results from passage of two new school levies — a 3-mill levy for general expenses and a 1-mill levy for maintenance — which were passed in the May 1960 primary and became effective in January. Most of the increases come from salary boosts for all board employees and increased appropriations in various accounts which the board promised to adopt when the levy campaign was under way. In the general fund, the biggest single increase is for teachers' salaries, which jumped from $914,819 last year to an appropriation for this year of $1,032,374, an increase of $117,555. Others were boosts of $8,672 to $20,000 for textbooks; $5,894 to $7,000 for library books and $4,487 to $20,000 for other educational supplies. The board also increased the amount for equipment for old buildings by $18,237 to $20,000 and set up $15,000 for unanticipated emergencies. In other accounts, the appropriation shows a boost of $15,886 in the cafeteria fund and new accounts of $7,098 for workbooks and $47,267 — the income from one mill — for repair and maintenance of schools. Beside the general fund appropriation, the amounts appropriated for other accounts include $120,000 for maturing serial bonds, $52,050 for bond interest, $3,000 for Title III federal funds, $74,667 for the cafeteria account, $3,090 for the improvement fund, $500 for night school, $7,098 for workbooks

New Castro Blast Seen Against U.S.

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime is expected to charge that an American cable repair ship intercepted by a Cuban gunboat Friday had invaded Cuba's territorial waters. Castro has scheduled a nationwide radio-television speech for Sunday and may comment then on the U.S. State Department charge that the incident constituted harassment on the high seas. U.S. Navy officials said the 92-ton schooner Western Union and her crew of 13 men were intercepted in international waters about five miles off the port of Baracoa, on Cuba's northeast coast, and released six hours later after a U.S. destroyer and jet airplanes appeared. The Swiss Embassy, which has represented U.S. interests in Cuba since Havana and Washington broke diplomatic relations, Monday delivered to the Cuban Foreign Ministry a U.S. note demanding a full explanation. City To Create
Tax Complaint
Review Board

Credit Due Residents
For Levies Paid To Other Communities

Council enacted legislation Monday night authorizing appointment of a Board of Review to hear complaints against decisions of the income tax department and approved another amendment to give East Liverpool residents credit for part of the income or occupational taxes they pay to other communities in which they are employed. The two changes were made as part of a lengthy piece of legislation making four amendments in the ordinance that has been in effect since Jan. 27. The major section in the new ordinance provides that an East Liverpool residents will receive a credit on his city income tax for 50 per cent of the tax he is required to pay in another community or 50 per cent of the amount he owes locally — whichever is smaller. It affects an estimated 4,000 taxpayers employed in Midland, Chester, Newell and other nearby communities. East Liverpool residents who work at Midland recently became subject to a new $10-a-year occupational tax. City residents employed at Chester and Newell are affected by the new West Virginia state income tax law, which imposes a levy equivalent to 6 per cent of the tax paid the federal government. In approving the change, Council repealed the original reciprocity clause in the tax ordinance, which called for a complicated exchange of credits between communities which collect income taxes. The ordinance provides that the new three-member Board of Review will consider any complaints against decisions of the income tax department, with the power to affirm, reverse or modify them. The board will be comprised of one member appointed by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, another chosen by the council and a third by the board. (Turn to TAX, Page 9)

Mrs. McDevitt, a resident of 256 Carolina Ave., Chester, has been band director of Wells High for seven years, during which time the school's band won four superior ratings. She was given a leave of absence Monday night by the board, effective today. A senior at West Liberty State College, Clark will be graduated in June with a degree in music. He performs with the Wheeling Symphony Orchestra as a trumpet player. Clark was graduated from Chester High School in 1957 and won

Jaycees Start Planning For City Road-E-O

The Junior Chamber of Commerce today announced plans for the annual Teen-Age Driving Road-E-O program designed to test the driving skill of area youth.

The contest will be held April 30 at the rear Westgate School parking lot, according to Jack Chapman, chairman, who said some 150 to 200 area high school students are expected to participate.

An invitation has been extended to students at East Liverpool, Chester, Newell, and Beaver Local High Schools.

Applications have been given to the driver training instructor at each of the schools. They are to be filled out and returned by April 14.

Written examinations will be given at the schools the week of April 17. Each student must pass a written exam before he or she can participate in the driving contest.

The East Liverpool High School Driving Club will assist the Jaycees in the project.

Locally, a boy and a girl winner will be selected to represent the city in the state contest to be held at Portsmouth. They will compete for $3,400 in scholarships and trophies in the state event.

The local prizes will be announced later. Chapman said local agencies will provide new cars for the contest.

Bob Boley is in charge of advertising and publicity while Bob Blankenship will obtain the cars.

Chapman and Dave Dailey will conduct the written exams. Dale Kidd is in charge of setting up the obstacle course at the parking lot.

Murder, Suicide Seen In Deaths Of Divorcee, Man

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—The slaying of a 21-year-old divorcee at nearby Streetsboro Monday night apparently was the result of a lovers' quarrel, sheriff's deputies said.

Mrs. Margaret Butcher was shot twice with a rifle in an automobile parked at a restaurant where she was employed as a waitress. Her boyfriend, George F. Wilcox Jr., 22, was found shot to death about an hour later at a trailer park where he lived.

Deputies said a rifle lay near the body of Wilcox in his house trailer at the M. & M. Trailer Park on Ohio 14 about 4½ miles southwest of Streetsboro. They said the shootings appeared to be murder and suicide.

Officers said a note signed by Wilcox was found on a table near the body. In that note, Wilcox told of his plan to kill himself because of his love for Mrs. Butcher and added that he was going to "take her with me" because she was cheating on him, deputies said.

Wilcox was shot in the right side, the bullet ranging upward and emerging from his left shoulder, deputies said.

Mrs. Butcher ran to the nearby car of a girl friend after she was shot and her body was found there. Wilcox fled the restaurant in his car, which was found parked in front of his trailer, deputies said.

Ship Incident Causes Castro To Back Down

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus Dispatch staff writer, Clair Stebbins, reporting from the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba, said today Fidel Castro's Cuban government had backed away from a military showdown with U.S. Navy air and sea power after intercepting an American cable laying ship.

The ship, the Western Union, had been intercepted Friday in international waters five miles off the east Cuban port of Baracoa, Stebbins reported.

He said the Western Union was intercepted at mid-afternoon by a Cuban gunboat which pulled alongside and ordered the vessel to head for shore. Stebbins' special story added:

"Admiral O'Connell conversed at once with Admiral Allen Smith, commander of the Caribbean Sea Frontier with headquarters at San Juan, Puerto Rico, and with Admiral Leigh Burke, chief of Naval Operations in Washington.

"The entire jet strength of Guantanamo's Carter Airfield went into action and planes were dispatched, two at a time, to maintain surveillance on the Cuban gunboat and the small American vessel.

"After being released, the cable ship proceeded to Key West under escort of the destroyer."

To Ohioans In Congress

Impeachment Of Warren Proposed Through Mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohioans in Congress have received a fair amount of mail proposing that Chief Justice Earl Warren be impeached.

Most of it, however, comes from outside of the state. Virtually none is identified as written by a member of the ultra-rightist organization, the John Birch Society.

Nevertheless, Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio asserts the impeachment - Warren mail has been clearly inspired by the society. It indicates, his office said, that a number of Ohioans belong.

Young, who assailed the organization Monday as fascist and comprised of fake patriots, quoted one letter on the senate floor as follows:

"You will never get another vote of mine or anyone I know if you approve of Earl Warren's record."

To this, Young added: "Frankly, I would never want that crackpot's vote."

Young said he has, however, been answering these letters.

One letter by Young began: "Some crackpot has given you false information." It ended: "It is unfortunate you read such trash."

Brown Announces Chairmen For City's Cancer Fund Drive

Chairmen for the Cancer Crusade in East Liverpool have been named by Postmaster Sam W. Brown, head of the local drive.

The campaign will continue throughout April, which has been designated Cancer Control Month by Congress. This year's slogan is "Guard your family — fight cancer with a checkup and a check."

Heading the special gifts committee is Mrs. J. Donald Thompson. Mike Turk again will head the business and industry-wide drive.

The residential campaign chairman is Mrs. Aldrey Newtz. Serving her third year as chairman of the group of women, Mrs. Newtz will lead a house-to-house drive. She is a member of the county Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society.

Miss Joan Witt, a teacher at Westgate Junior High School and education director of the ACS, will be Tag Day chairman. Miss Witt will have the co-operation of the school children in the one-day drive.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts will serve as chairman of the school drive.

Next Term's School Calendar To End Classes June 7, 1962

A 1961-62 school calendar providing for classes to convene Wednesday, Sept. 6, and dismiss on June 7, 1962, was adopted Monday night by the Board of Education.

The calendar was approved following a lengthy discussion.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts said the calendar recommended to the board drew the heaviest support among the four plans submitted to teachers for their selection.

The approved calendar drew nearly twice as many votes as the next closest although it did not receive a majority of the vote among the instructors, Betts said. The adopted calendar drew support from 82 teachers while the next nearest drew 48.

The calendar sets the Christmas vacation from the end of classes

Planning Meeting Arranged April 18 For Cub Officials

A planning meeting will be held by officials of Cub Scout Pack 74 of LaCroft April 18 at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Angus of 8th Ave.

Thomas Shultz, cubmaster, will preside. The pack is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of the elementary school.

At last week's pack meeting, all dens presented skits on the monthly theme. Den 1 presented the opening ceremony. Future activities were discussed, including a kite-flying contest, and a visit to Forbes Field to see the Pittsburgh Pirates in action.

The cubmaster presented a pin to Harold Wright, custodian, as a gesture of appreciation.

Indian ceremonies were held in honor of Wayne Rudabaugh's graduation into Boy Scouting. He was awarded a tenderfoot patch by regarding an outstanding American and that you have been deceived."

At another point in his speech, Young said:

"I am less concerned about the existence of possibly 500 or 1,000 communists in my own state of Ohio—and certainly no more than 30,000 in the United States—that I am about the ugly boil of fascism which leaders of the John Birch Society represent . . ."

Another Ohioan, Rep. Gordon H. Scherer, a Cincinnati republican, has called the John Birch Society a basically pro-American organization.

The office of Rep. Samuel L. Devine, a Columbus, Ohio, Republican, an aide said Devine disagrees with the impeachment - Warren proposal but that he does not consider the majority of John Birch members as crackpots.

An aide to Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, reported receiving scarcely any mail that could have been sent by John Birch members. He said he has never heard Lausche express an opinion about the organization.

an educational effort as well as a fund drive in all schools in the area, according to Mrs. Gertrude Reese, county co-ordinator.

Miss Evelyn Exley, R.N., City Hospital education director, will canvass the hospitals' staffs, including nurses and other employees of the local hospitals.

Aiding the chairmen will be Mrs. Edna Jones, R.N., president of the county unit of ACS, Mrs. Jane Jolly, executive secretary of the county unit, and Mrs. Reese, also chairman of the six-year cancer preventive study survey.

The chairman said "Saving lives now, as well as countless lives in the future, is the double-barreled objective of the Cancer Society's Crusade."

"If funds are available," Brown pointed out, "we can step up the research we now support in hundreds of laboratories staffed by more than 1,000 scientists who are seeking to control cancer for all time. And if funds are available, we can fill unmet needs in our programs of service, public education, and professional education and save some of the 85,000 Americans who die of cancer every year."

Youth Admits He Murdered His Mother

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Something kept telling him to do it, 13-year-old Gary Geiger told authorities. So he got a shotgun, sneaked up behind his mother while she was playing the organ and fatally blasted her in the back, the sheriff reported.

At first, Sheriff Harley Wornstaff said, Gary told of a man breaking into the house and killing his mother, Mrs. Lucille Geiger, in her late 30s.

But the boy broke down under questioning, the sheriff said, and admitted slaying her himself Monday night.

Wornstaff said that because of the boy's age, it will be up to the prosecutor and the courts to determine what charges will be filed against him.

The shooting occurred while the mother and son were alone in the house, about four miles southwest of here. The father, Lloyd, and an older son were away, Wornstaff said.

Other than his explanation that "something kept telling me to do it," Gary offered no reason for firing the 12-gauge shotgun once into his mother's back while she sat playing the electric organ in the living room.

The boy told the sheriff there was no trouble between him and his mother. He had no previous record with the sheriff's department.

Gary at first told deputies that a man broke into the house—there was a broken window to support that story—forced him to hand over the shotgun, killed Mrs. Geiger and fled.

Replacement Considered

Council Authorizes Study Of Older Parking Meters

Safety - Service Director Lee Copenhaver was authorized by Council Monday night to make a general survey aimed particularly at determining if the city's 13-year-old parking meters need replacement.

The action was taken on a motion by Councilman John Melvin, who pointed out approximately 475 of the existing meters were installed in the fall of 1947 and many of those now are "virtually beyond repair."

FREQUENT HALTS to check faulty meters slow the "Meter Maids" in their rounds and parkers often are irritated by finding the old devices do not function properly when coins are inserted, Melvin pointed out.

He explained the intent of the motion is to determine what steps need to be taken to modernize the parking meter system. Council will act after receiving the director's report, he said.

"This doesn't mean the director has to go around personally and look at all these meters," Councilman Donald Hancock explained. "He can get the assistance of some of the meter companies."

In addition to the 1947 models, the city has approximately 200 other meters of more recent vintage in operation, including those on off-street parking lots established in the last few years.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper advised Council in a caucus session that first legislation for purchase of the old Ceramic Theater building and conversion of the site into a metered parking lot probably will be ready for presentation at the next meeting April 17.

Council received a letter from the downtown improvement committee of the East Liverpool Merchants Association commending it for its decision to acquire the property and offering to assist in the project in any way possible.

Council decided tentatively at the meeting March 20 to acquire the property from heirs of the Tallman estate for $45,000. Another $15,000 would be spent to raze the building, prepare and surface the site and install meters. Paid out of meter revenues, the project would be self-liquidating over about 15 years.

Acting on a motion by Hancock, President Charles N. Edwards appointed a three-man committee to study the feasibility of employing a full-time city engineer.

THE COMMITTEE is comprised of Hancock and Councilmen Norman Bucher and Donald Smith. At present, the city employs George S. Bloomgren as its engineer on a consulting and part-time basis at $6,000 yearly.

Hancock also asserted that he is not in favor of the 10-12 percent increase in water rates decreed recently by the Board of Public Utilities.

"Council always takes it on the chin for everything and we're doing it again in this case," Hancock said. "We had nothing to do with it, I'm not in favor of it."

Council approved a motion confirming Mayor Bert H. Goodballe's appointment of Howard Moore as a member of the utilities board. Moore was named Saturday to succeed James Mullen, who was ineligible to continue to serve because he moved to Ohio View.

COUNCIL ENACTED an ordinance appropriating $5,275 specifically to pay overdue 1960 accounts of the street department. The total includes $2,709 for funds which were appropriated but not received because anticipated income exceeded actual receipts and another $2,566 representing unappropriated expenditures.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Summers, 1433 Dresden Ave., appeared personally to request Council to erect guardrails in front of her property and others nearby to protect children, houses and parked cars in the event a vehicle went off the nearby highway.

Reporting for the street committee, Councilman John Kelly said an earlier request for guardrails in the 1900 block of Dresden has been turned down. The committee felt the expenditure would be unwise because the new freeway will be completed within 18 months, cutting most of the traffic volume on the street, he said. Highway construction is proceeding now in the area, but the contractors should station flagmen there to slow and direct traffic, he added.

NAPOLEON CORDOZO of Virginia Ave. also appeared personally to request repair of a large hole in Long Lane Alley. Virginia Ave. also needs work on the pavement, he said.

Council referred to the claims committee a $17 bill against the city filed by Mary H. Hughes, 1839 Ohio Ave., for medical expenses she said were incurred after she stepped in a hole on Myrtle Ave. and tore the ligament in her right foot.

Acting on a motion by Bucher, chairman on the rules committee, Council voted to set its first May meeting for May 8, a week later than the regular date, which falls the night before the primary election.

Councilman Robert Laughlin was excused. The meeting opened with invocation by Kenneth Steen, superintendent of the Rescue Mis-

Trustees Fill Constable Post For St. Clair

Lester McElhaney of Calcutta was named St. Clair Township police constable at a meeting of the township trustees Monday night at which an increased appropriation ordinance of $47,369 was approved.

McElhaney, 67, retired Treadwell Construction Co. employee, succeeds Clarence Blosser, who resigned in March. McElhaney will receive $75 a month under the new police system of the township.

John Jackson, chief constable, receives $85 a month, and Harry Skelton, constable, also receives $75 in the pay program provided by a half-mill levy approved by voters last year.

The appropriation ordinance, up $11,875 from the budget of $35,494 of 1960, reflects the $6,310 provided by the police levy. Increased revenue from real estate taxes and from more road mileage funds from the motor vehicle licenses, along with carryover from last year, accounts for the additional appropriations.

The extra funds will be spent on roads, the current budget calling for $32,598 for roads, compared to $27,500 last year.

Robert Snyder of Hanoverton, road oil contractor, said the price of applying oil this year will run 8 cents a running foot for a 12-foot wide strip. The price last year was 7 cents.

Snyder said residents must file applications on or before May 1 to obtain service, and no oil will be provided unless requested and paid for.

Snyder will be at a meeting of the trustees May 1 to take applications.

Two residents of Wilson Hill Rd. asked for widening of the roadway and removal of rocks. They were told the county highway department will be asked to investigate.

Slag was requested for Kinsey Rd.

A delegation from Mud Ln. was advised the cost of oil treatment in the second year of the five-year blacktop program will be 6 cents. Use of the township hall was granted the Mud Ln. group Wednesday night to organize officers to administer the road program and funds.

The trustees have adopted a new policy of having property owners organize, and have officials responsible for their road requests and funds.

The next meeting will be Monday.

Players' Mothers Elect At Chester

Mrs. Charles Sayre was elected president of the Chester Football and Basketball Mothers at a meeting Monday night with Mrs. Emil Rice of 5th St., retiring president.

Others named were Mrs. Raymond Sayre, vice president; Mrs. Donald Hissam, secretary, and Mrs. Charles Elliott, treasurer.

Plans were made to operate a lunch stand at the annual Hookstown Fair in August. Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Hissam were named to meet with the fair committee April 13.

The group will sell lunches at the annual Chester High School Field Day, and will sell candy bars and soft drinks at school home baseball games.

Lunch was served 12 by the hostesses and Mrs. Elliott. The next meeting is May 1 with Mrs. Rice.

Parole Charge Will Be Made

Clifford Eugene McDole, 34, of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1 will be returned to custody of the Pennsylvania Parole Board for the theft of an auto from East Liverpool early Sunday morning, Ohio Township Constable Bernard Zlatovich reported.

Zlatovich said the FBI agent for Beaver County told him that the U.S. attorney at Pittsburgh has declined to prosecute McDole on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen car but the parole board has issued a warrant charging parole violation.

McDole was paroled March 10 from Rockview Penitentiary where he was serving a 1-5-year term for burglary and larceny of Kenny Miller's service station at Smiths Ferry. Zlatovich said he arrested McDole in 1959.

It is expected that McDole will serve out the rest of his term. Police Chief Americo Radeschi said today that East Liverpool authorities will file a detainer on McDole for an auto theft charge here.

Zlatovich planned to take McDole from the Midland jail to the Beaver County Jail today.

McDole stole the 1953 sedan of Dave Mocree, 812 Broadway, Wells-ville, which was parked here Sunday.

Patrolman Jerry Adkins, stationed in a cruiser at Harvey Ave. and Putnam St., saw the car at 3:45 a. m. and gave chase. Midland and Ohio Township police were alerted and Zlatovich set up a roadblock at Ohioville where McDole wrecked the stolen car.

Both officers fired shots over his head as he ran through a field, fell down and finally gave up.

Lockout May Be Expanded

WHEELING — The executive manager of the Ohio Valley Builders Exchange has predicted the lockout of trade unions could spread to other jobs outside the exchange today.

But Dr. Win van Eekersen said he hoped for progress.

The exchange represents 100 construction firms on both sides of the Ohio River from Steubenville and Weirton downriver to Marietta and Parkersburg.

The executive manager said that only out-of-town contractors would continue to work, but that the Ohio Valley Building Trades Council also may strike them.

Some 2,000 members of 22 local unions were idle Monday in the absence of a contract. The old one expired last Friday.

At the same time, Earl Ringler, president of the council, criticized tactics of the exchange.

"They can rest assured," Ringler said, "members of the trades will be drawing unemployment and the contractors' strategy is liable to backfire."

"They can't deny them the right to draw unemployment. The men want to work but the contractors have locked the door — in other words — locked them out."

"But they won't starve these boys into a contract. They'll be able to hold out as long as unemployment compensation does. It could be 39 weeks," Ringler added.

Agreement on a contract, without wage boosts, has been reached by four locals — cement finishers in Wheeling and Steubenville and lathers and plasterers in Wheeling.

Although negotiations are held separately by most of the locals, Van Eekersen said even if they reach accord the individual locals wouldn't go back to work until all the allied trades do.

Building projects at Wheeling Steel's Follansbee plant and at the National Aniline Co. near Mounds-ville are among those at a standstill.

Palestine Board Sets Bid Opening May 11

EAST PALESTINE — The Board of Education Monday night set May 11 for opening bids for general contracting construction of a new 10-room elementary school adjoining the junior high school and a six-room addition at the high school.

The project will be paid from a $650,000 bond issue approved by voters in November. The board also authorized football coaches Howard Weyers and Don McCreight to attend a state football clinic at Columbus May 5-6.

Light Plant Project Bids Will Be Scanned

EAST PALESTINE — Bids will be opened May 17 for the first phase of a major improvement project at the municipal electric plant, including a steam generating unit with a 80,000-pound boiler.

The 18-month project is major portion of an $836,000 improvement at the plant. A high line and substation will be provided later. Specifications may be obtained from the City Hall or the Floyd Browne Associates of Marion.

Thief Telephones Owner To Return Car Transmission

A $400 four-speed transmission stolen out of a North Side man's auto the night of March 25-26 was returned Monday night just as mysteriously as it vanished.

The bulky auto part was restored to Joseph R. Gebauer, 1520 Smithfield St., via an anonymous telephone call received by his wife.

"Your transmission is too hot to handle," the caller told the city fireman's wife. "If you want it, it's at the upper pavilion at Thompson Park."

Since her husband was at work, Mrs. Gebauer telephoned police, who found the transmission just as the caller promised.

Theft of the transmission, a clutch plate and a pressure plate was reported to police a week ago, Gebauer said the theft occurred while his car was parked in his garage on Princeton Ave. between 10:15 p. m. Saturday and 5:45 a. m. Sunday.

A quick-working thief with good mechanical ability apparently sneaked into the garage, removed the transmission and hauled it away for sale or for use in his own auto, police said.

Obscured Vision Cited After Walnut St. Crash

Both drivers complained their vision was blocked by parked cars after a right-angle collision Monday at 5:11 p. m. at Walnut St. and Potters Alley, police reported.

The collision damaged a 1958 four-door sedan driven by Robert J. Humphrey, 44, of 1831 Anderson Blvd. and a 1951 sedan operated by Marie A. White, 1063 Ephraim St., officers said.

Humphrey was driving south on Walnut St. and the woman was proceeding east in Potters Alley, officers said. There was damage to the front of each auto, officers said.

He said several new items will be available — pork and gravy, oatmeal, dried beans and powdered eggs, along with flour, corn meal, rice, lard, milk and butter.

He urged recipients to bring enough containers, otherwise it slows up the distribution.

IN AMERICA'S BIGGEST, TOUGHEST 1961 ECONOMY CONTEST...

Which man drove Rambler?

In the toughest, most realistic test of all-around gasoline economy ever staged—the NASCAR sanctioned 1961 Pure Oil Economy Trials at Daytona Speedway, Rambler won—not just one—but the three trophies held by driver Les Viland in the photo above.

No other make won more than one award... most won none.

Unlike other runs that put a premium on feather-footed driving, the Pure Oil Economy Trials closely parallel your own everyday driving experience.

Every U.S.-built production car is eligible. None are arbitrarily barred, as in some other runs. 145 cars representing all 5 U.S. manufacturers entered this year's Trials.

Rambler American Custom with overdrive beat them all to win the cherished Overall Winner Trophy and captured the Class 6 trophy in competition with Falcon, Corvair, Lark and Tempest 4. In fact, Rambler American took the first 6 places—8 of first 10.

And Ambassador V-8 by Rambler won its Class, swept the first 8 places and 9 of the first 10 spots.

Traveling at speeds up to 65 M.P.H. and averaging more than 40 M.P.H., the winning Rambler American made 14 complete stops, one stop every 1.9 miles, and shifted through the gears 15 times while circling the 3.7 mile course and still averaged a phenomenal 26.86 miles per gallon.

This is the second straight year that Rambler has won the Pure Oil Economy Trials.

Want more proof of Rambler value? Then see your Rambler dealer. You'll find top gas economy is just part of your savings. Rambler costs less to buy, is voted most trouble-free by owners, has top resale value.

Rambler dealers sell twice as many compact cars per dealer as most other dealer groups. That means, you get a better deal... on the best of the compacts. Rambler—world standard of compact car excellence.

Who's Opposing Annexation?

The Ohio General Assembly has started to work again on an annexation bill that twice before has made its way halfway through the legislative process, only to be stopped short of enactment.

The Assembly is a deliberative body which meets only every two years, and perhaps should not be too severely criticized for taking its time about making basic changes in Ohio's laws.

But every year that passes without some easing of the antiquated restrictions on annexation heightens the crisis facing municipalities in their efforts to keep up with modern patterns of urbanization.

THE DELAY would be more understandable if S. B. 119, which is the measure under consideration, were a radical revision. But it is not. It was born of a compromise between the forces that want no annexation and those that would like to see a lot of it.

S. B. 119 represents only a step in the right direction—a step that could help to point the way toward fair, orderly urban growth.

The importance of the step cannot be underestimated. Louis Evans, counsel for the Ohio Municipal League, touched the heart of the matter when he told a Senate committee that the future growth of Ohio's economy will depend upon resolving the present stalemate on annexation.

Regardless of what anti-annexation forces may want, urbanization in Ohio is here to stay. It is increasingly difficult to find a county in this state that is truly rural in all characteristics.

THIS FACT has far-reaching political, social, economic and governmental implications. The sooner all legislators, rather than just those whose home communities already are trapped in artificial boundaries, face up to this reality, the sooner Ohio as a whole will be able to make real progress toward the solution of some of its most pressing problems.

S. B. 119 is in effect an enabling act that would allow local communities to meet their responsibilities more effectively.

In view of the pressures which state government right now face from local subdivisions which need financial help, it seems absurd that a moderate annexation bill should not glide through the General Assembly with the utmost ease.

Conflict Of Interest Law For Ohio

The Republican leadership of the Ohio General Assembly should be commended for assisting Gov. Michael V. DiSalle in his efforts to put a law on the books to regulate conflicts of interest among public officials.

It is a touchy subject for a legislative body, because legislators are part-time public officials who usually depend upon other income for their livelihood.

If a conflict-of-interest law were too strict or too strictly interpreted, it could conceivably bar every representative and senator from his sea.

THAT, OF COURSE, is not the intent of the proposal which has been worked out by a subcommittee of the Ohio House and approved by its parent committee. The intent is to promote the proper operation of democratic government by controlling the forces that seek to impede it.

This is a difficult task. It involves fine distinctions between what is proper and what isn't.

A federal conflict-of-interest law has been on the books for many years, yet conflicts still crop up from time to time. But that does not mean the law is bad or that it is ineffective. It only points up the difficulty in writing such a law.

Some people argue that conflict-of-interest legislation attempts to control morals through statutes and therefore is out of order. But all law is based on the need to set moral standards for society, and it is basic to a moral society that its governing processes operate according to moral standards.

THE BILL which the General Assembly is considering has been thoughtfully drafted by men very much aware of the conflicts and pressures that operate on the governmental scene. Those men also understand the scope of freedom that government must have if representative democracy is to function properly.

The bill, after a thorough airing, was unanimously recommended by the House Government Operations Committee.

We hope it will get the same kind of support at every subsequent point in the legislative process.

An Elbow In The Diplomatic Eye

It is not a taxpayer's job to wonder why in international relations — only to pay or die.

But it would take an indifferent taxpayer not to wonder why the government of the United States will let itself be outflanked again over the bill for United Nations costs in the Congo.

Late last week an announcement was made in U.N. headquarters that the United States would pledge an unspecified sum to cover military operating costs in the Congo. This was done to bail out the organization after the Soviet Union, France and 19 Latin American countries refused to pay U.N. assessments to cover Congo costs in 1960. The same situation is shaping up for 1961. The United States will be stuck with the checks of the governments that refuse to pay. It expects to be stuck.

The effect so far has been to boost the U.S. allotted share of roughly one-third of Congo costs to about one-half.

The United Nations has been saved from inability to pay bills, which would be ruinous. It could not buy supplies. It could not pay the soldiers who represent its authority. There would be a crisis.

But would the crisis destroy the United Nations? No one ever will know, because the United States won't risk it. It prefers to go on paying not only its regular share but an extra share of U.N. costs.

Whereas its taxpayers might prefer to tell the Soviet Union, France and the 19 Latin American nations to pay up or get out, on the assumption they then would pay up because they don't dare to get out, the U.S. government will pay and pay again.

This year it will pay about half of the estimated $120 million cost of cooling off the belligerent forces in the Congo. That is about what it will pay for 1960 when all the bills are in. And that is a sample of what it will get stuck with from here on if it never calls for a showdown with governments that have no intention of paying unless there's no alternative.

The Once Over

To belt or not to belt is an increasingly big issue as far as the 1962 auto styles are concerned, and we report the following interview with typical motorists:

Q. Are you for auto belts?

A. I know they are needed but I would feel like Casper Milquetoast or Nervous Nellie if seen clamping one on.

Q. You mean you fear a safety belt would lower your prestige when you tried to intimidate everybody else on the road?

A. That's it. How could I haul out a fellow auto driver at a crossroad if I am wearing a belt and he is bawling me out without one?

Q. You think that when two road hogs are cussing out each other, a lack of belts evens up the fight?

A. Very much so.

Q. Suppose both are wearing belts during their wild driving?

A. This would give them both a false idea of their own importance and invulnerability.

Q. Why should people willingly snap on safety belts in airplanes and not in autos?

A. I can't figure it out. People are much safer in midair than on highways.

Q. Don't you think that, in view of the reckless driving and accident toll, Detroit should equip every car with a parachute?

A. It could be more important than a belt.

Q. An auto engineer says belts would be accepted with less opposition if they were made to stress comfort and style. What's your view?

A. My wife says she would wear one if made in smart material and popularized by style magazines.

Q. Do you believe auto safety belts would get a boost if Jacqueline Kennedy were photographed wearing one in her auto?

A. Boy, that would do it!

Hardly A Surprise Passenger

Reds Fire Bullets, Not Ballots

By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel number of its "secretaries."

There were, for example, 100 Communist party members in Laos before the shooting began.

There is documentary evidence of this global Communist political anemia. The State Department's little-known Bureau of Intelligence and Research has a virtually unread document which proves—decimal point by decimal point—that the frequently boasting Communist international propaganda "apparatus" could only enroll some 500,000 party members of the billion folk in the free lands of Asia.

Wherever there are free people, be they of yellow skin or white, brown or black, they sneer at Soviet propaganda. That's why the Russians turn to rockets instead of rhetoric.

THE DOCUMENT before me discloses that "the actual Communists (in Laos) actually number less than 100."

"The Communist party of Cambodia operates on a covert basis, mainly through the Pracheachon, a legal political front organization with a possible maximum membership of 1,000 and a population following of 30,000."

In these two mountainous lands of the monsoons there are some eight million people. Their leaders have been feuding and sniping politically at each other more heavily than Chinese guerrillas snipe in the jungles.

Nor are the men of Khrushchev more successful in India—land of 500 million often hungry souls. There, about 123 million people vote. Yet the Communists of India never enrolled more than 230,000. To snare these, the Soviets had to create three "front" parties in addition to the Communist organization.

There are the Communist party of India, the Revolutionary Socialist party, the Peasants and Workers party and the Forward bloc. Furthermore, they control a group of unions called the All-India Trade Union Congress.

AS WE MOVE EAST into the Rising Sun, we find that despite heavy financial invasions on intellectuals, white collar people and industrial workers, the Communists have not been able to enroll more than 60,000 to 80,000 members. Not much to show — except for a few riots—for the Sino-Soviet bloc's spending of billions of yen among 92 million Japanese.

There, where they cannot yet shoot their way down the Giza, they find they must organize united fronts even to whip up those riots. Thus they helped create "The People's Council Against Revision of the Security Treaty."

Outside of Japan and India, the Sino-Soviet propagandists fall on their red faces even more dismally.

In lovely Ceylon, for example, even the followers of the late Leon Trotsky give them a run for their propaganda money. There the pro-Moscow Communists have 4,000. The Trotskyite Lanka Sama Samaja party has 1,500 activists, and their partners have about 650 more.

ACROSS THE SEA in Malaya the Communist party of Malaya has 5,000 members. The Malayan Races Liberation Army has 700. This, out of a population of some 6½ million.

Down at the tip of the Malayan land, where the Moscow-Peking operatives expected a real political harvest among Singapore's 1½ million, all they could enlist were 500 members.

In Burma, the party split. The Communist official organization had some 3,000 members. The rival splinter took somewhat more than 500 with it. This out of a population of well over 20 million people.

As for the Philippines, there the Communist party could sell dues stamps to only 1,500, including 350 violent Huk, a jungle army, the Chinese Communists there enrolled about 400. Not much out of a population of 24 million.

Small wonder Chairman Khrushchev prefers bullets, not ballots. If we want to preserve those free ballots we had better supply some free bullets—swiftly.

Letter To The Editor

Fellow Citizens: This is my second letter to the editor. This time I really have something to say.

Everyone has argued pro and con on this income tax. There is good points on both sides, but the city gave two good reasons for it. The first was to fix our streets, the other to keep our city workers from being laid off.

They got the tax in. Now, where are the street repairs? Also, I understand at least six, possibly nine, men are to be laid off by April. Why? No money says the city. If this is so, where will the money come from to buy the Ceramic Theater? There is a fortune to be invested in all of things a parking lot. Who will use this parking lot? If our own people are laid off from work there will be no money to spend. Who will drive a car to town just for the privilege of using this nice parking lot?

How many people in this town know that our city workers worked as much as 16 or more hours in the cold and with broken and outdated machinery trying to keep our streets passable this past winter?

How can we expect these men to keep our cars moving when our snow equipment is so old that it should have been scrapped years ago. And nothing new has been purchased except manpower. It isn't enough, the condition of our streets the last few months have made that plain enough for anyone to see if they care to look. But now winter is over so we no longer need these men. What is wrong? Isn't there another winter coming? Why don't we put some money in decent street repairs and good mobilized equipment rather than a parking lot. Even the stuff used to patch our streets is inferior, just because it can be bought cheaper in Canton.

If it isn't any good, and it isn't, where are we saving any money if the same job has to be done more than once?

As I understand it we have two separate crews of city workers. Sanitation and street crews. These men are hired for a particular type of work. Yet last year I saw men who were hired for sanitation cutting brush along the River Rd. and patching holes. Why? If we don't have enough men for each job why not hire more men and do the job right.

We certainly have enough men out of work in this town who would welcome such a job. This would in turn cut our relief rolls down. If a fortune can be raised as easily for a parking lot I for one believe these men's salaries could be paid.

Have any of you readers ever tried to count the number of business places that have left our town? Or the families who have moved away? Just try it. I'll guarantee you will be very much surprised.

We also have a state law that there are to be so many lights on each car. And yet a drive around the area at night will show you quite a few of these one-eyed jacks. We even have a cruiser with two missing lights. How do you know if the one light approaching you is a car or motorcycle? It just might be too late if you judge wrong. A person who owns and operates a car should know at all times if he has a missing light. A careless man is usually a dead man.

Old Soviet Game

By David Lawrence

Russians Count On 'Collective Weakness'

Russia is stalling and, in effect, passes the buck on a cease fire to the two fighting factions in Laos. Meanwhile, the Communist — supported rebels there are gaining ground and winning victories. Soon they will have a big chunk of Laos — the northern section — the first toe — hold the Soviet Union — David Lawrence on will have gained in Southeast Asia.

It is a perplexing situation for President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan. They don't want to start a big war — nor participate in a little one either. Russia is relying on her customary tactics — long drawn out negotiations and palaver about "peace" and "neutrality" which will permit its own kind of government to be installed eventually in Laos.

The Soviet Union reply to the British note is an ambiguous and purposely confusing document. President Kennedy tactfully takes a euphemistic view of it. He says it is a "useful next step." But that's only a polite way of avoiding a stalemate in any negotiations.

Quiet diplomacy nevertheless has suddenly come to a halt and the world is witnessing again the same open tactics of propaganda or argument by publicity that has characterized the Soviet strategy for many years now.

The Russians probably will blame President Kennedy for the change. They will point to his sensational appearance at a televised press conference when he read a blunt warning to the Soviets.

It was followed by an implied threat of military action to be taken by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. This policy was dramatized by the conference at Bangkok attended by the U.S. secretary of state.

The Soviet note received over the weekend makes a direct criticism of these moves. In the unofficial translation from the Russian language given to the press at Palm Beach, the wording is as follows:

"It goes without saying that the threats of interference in the affairs of Laos by the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization military bloc and the tactics of sabre rattling, employed recently by certain powers, not only does not promote this but can seriously complicate the entire matter of settlement on the Laos problem."

The translation, as cabled from London by the Reuters News Service, gives a slightly different version in the last sentence as follows:

"The tactics of sabre rattling, used of late by certain powers, far from promoting this, may seriously aggravate this matter of settling the Loatian problem."

THE SOVIET NOTE says the rebellion in Laos was "raised by a group of plotters relying on outside military assistance," thus accusing America.

The West, on the other hand, contends that the Soviets provided military assistance and officially instigated the rebellion.

So, with this impasse, the question arises as to what the Soviets really are proposing now in their note.

They ignore the British and American request for an immediate cease fire as a necessary move before any international conferences are held. Instead, the Russians propose a cumbersome process of negotiation involving three separate activities, all going on at the same time.

First, the Russians say an "appeal" should be issued by themselves and Britain to the warring factions in Laos to stop the fighting.

Nothing is said as to how pressure is to be exerted to get an agreement among the Laos factions nor as to what steps are to be taken to stop all outside military assistance. Otherwise, the fighting may go on indefinitely as the futile talks continue.

Second, the Russians agree that an international commission of supervision and control composed of Canada, India and Poland shall make sure that the conditions of any truce ultimately agreed upon are fully carried out.

The West agrees to this. The Russians point out that they originally sponsored this plan last Feb. 18.

Third, the Russians agree that a 14-member conference — their original idea too, but supported by Britain in its March 23 note — be convened to discuss the future of Laos. They want this to start at once irrespective of the cease fire.

SUCH A MEETING could last for months. It involves a possible agreement on a "coalition" or so-called neutralist government.

The Soviets state flatly that they think Prince Souvanna Phouma — who has just visited Paris and London and goes to Moscow next — is the head of the lawful government of Laos.

It is well known that Souvanna Phouma is depending of the Communists to regain his power.

While all the talk goes on, United Press International dispatches from Vientiane over the weekend report that Communist paratroopers from North Vietnam have opened "a major offensive in central Laos," and that they have captured a key government-held post.

This is described as "a major breakthrough."

The Communists now are reported to have 10,000 troops in Laos. They threaten to cut the country in two, just as happened in Korea and later in the setting up of North and South Vietnam in what used to be French Indochina.

If the note writing and conferences go on long enough, the Communists will have achieved their main objective and will be in a position to insist on a "coalition" government which would include Communists and through which the latter would expect to take over all of Laos, as they did Red China.

AVERELL HARRIMAN, President Kennedy's roving ambassador, has just stated that the only way to make Laos a neutral nation is to set up a coalition government including Communists.

It's the same old story. Russia is counting on the idea that Britain and the United States and France are not united and will not fight a war and that the Southeast Asia treaty countries will hesitate to fight unless backed up by the West.

So brinkmanship that isn't backed up by a determination to fight if necessary isn't really brinkmanship at all but only collective weakness. That's what Moscow is betting on.

Just Quit Quibbling

By Truman Twill

It's only in amateur sports any more that things must be watched closely. It's like gambling. If it's a crime to gamble, everybody must be regarded with suspicion as a lawbreaker. But if it isn't a crime to gamble, no one needs to be watched because everybody is inside the law.

Professional ballplayers all are in business for money, consequently when they take it they are doing nothing wrong. That is, unless they disobey the trade rules, which are set up for the protection of the sport, not the ballplayers.

It brings up the best idea I've ever heard for settling the problem of athletes in this country who ask money for playing games.

The idea is to pay them and quit quibbling.

Get rid of the idea that an athlete who takes money above the table is honest and an athlete who takes it under the table is dishonest.

As for college and high school athletes who feel like being students, let them attend classes and go as far as they are able to go in school. But skip the flub-dubbery about making non-student athletes attend classes. Separate students from stand-ins. Dump the pretense that a major in physical education is the same as a major in science.

Concede that winning teams are good advertising for alma mater and hire the best team money can buy, which is the way it's done now, except that the point about winning teams isn't conceded.

Then to clear the air, divide all colleges and universities into two groups by the voluntary decision of their own boards of trustees—the commercial athletic group and the non-commercial athletic group.

Members of the latter group would have no further problems. It would be understood that their athletes were unpaid and largely unskilled—people playing for fun.

The commercial group would have problems. But it's having problems now. It would be so easy to straighten out the whole mess if every board of trustees in every college and university would decide which way they wanted it to be and then made it be that way, instead of pretending it was some other way.

The first presidential couple to celebrate a silver wedding anniversary in the White House was President and Mrs. Rutherford B. Hayes.

An older daughter and three small children of a Chester area couple escaped injury late this morning when a fire broke out in their Middle Run Rd. home while the parents were away.

Moderate damage resulted to the interior of the five-room frame home of Mr. and Mrs. James Howell in which the blaze began about 10:30 a. m. in the upstairs area. Five children of the couple were in school, while a daughter and three small youngsters were at home. The parents had gone to get coal.

Chester firemen were called at 10:42. The home is owned by Albert Bailey of Shepherd Valley.

The older daughter, Carole, said the three smaller children were upstairs playing. It was indicated they had matches.

An overstuffed chair in a bedroom first ignited. It was destroyed and a hole burned in the flooring.

Neighbors extinguished the blaze before firemen arrived. The home is about two miles south of Chester.

Hancock

The proposed schools, the number of pupils they would house, and the estimated costs, includes:

1,000-pupil high school for Weirton, $2,888,100; 600-pupil high school for North Hancock County, $1,797,110; 300-pupil Junior High School for Weirton, $246,570; 300-pupil elementary school for Chester, $302,600; heating plant for Weirton Junior High School, $15,000; windows, for Weir High School, $15,000, shower and lockers, Chester High School, $9,000, and shower and lockers for Wells High School in Newell, $9,000.

The estimated revenue to be produced by the bond issue amounts to $5,283,000 for the entire proposed building program.

"The new facilities will attract and hold excellent teachers, they will furnish the atmosphere for superior performance by superior teachers," Supt. Hall declared.

Other features will include general shops, a hot lunch program, little theater classes, and better facilities for science business education, and a two-year branch college, using high school facilities, is a strong possibility.

The board also:

Authorized use of the Chester High School auditorium April 21 for a minstrel show of the Chester Lions Club.

Approved the installation of a fence at the Wells High athletic field in Newell to keep spectators off the playing area.

Frank Potts, chairman, said a covered dinner and square dance, co-sponsored by the Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes, will be held Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the Calcutta fire hall. The dance will begin at 9.

Zehnder also reported on arrangements for the Teen-Age Road-E-O April 30 at Westgate School. Zehnder said the annual inaugural ball will be held Saturday, May 20, at 6:30 p. m. at the Country Club. New officers will be installed.

Russell Hall, chairman, reported the nominating committee is preparing a slate of officers for election at the meeting May 8. The meeting, advanced from May 15 because of the Chamber of Commerce dinner, it will be at the Travelers Hotel.

The Jaycees will set up a parade May 2 to promote "Better Buy Steel Week." The parade is being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Dick Chadwick will be chairman.

Eston Maple reported on arrangements for the post-prom party for East Liverpool High School students. A $10 donation was made to the Newell Post-Prom committee.

Zehnder said there are 12 new members who possibly are eligible for the SPOKE award. The award is given only members who earn a certain amount of points through various activities during their first year in the organization. A special board meeting will follow the next general membership meeting April 17 at the hotel to select a winner for the "SPOKE of the Year."

Robert J. Boley and Haskell Cehrs were accepted as new members. It was announced a District 5 meeting will be held April 19 at Salem.

Frank Dawson reported a youth physical fitness program similar to a Junior Olympics meet will be held July 29 at Patterson Field. It will be open to all youths from 9 to 18 from East Liverpool, Salem, Wellsville, Columbiana, Lisbon and East Palestine.

Various races and events will be held for boys and girls. The trials will be held in the home-towns and the first three winners in each event will be entitled to participate in the finals.

Some 620 to 700 are expected in the finals. Trophies and certificates will be given the winners. In case of rain, the event is scheduled for Aug. 5.

The next regular board meeting is May 1. James Allison, president, served as secretary in the absence of George Hales.

It was reported 12 are attending a stocks and bonds investment class being sponsored by the Jaycees. Hales reported on the Easter sunrise service held Sunday.

Turkey Price Termed Low; Supply Ample

Area markets have large supplies of frozen turkeys at lower than usual prices, Richard Skinner, marketing agent with the Co-operative Extension Service at Canfield reported today.

Present storage stocks of frozen turkeys are nearly a fourth larger than last year. Early prospect for record production in 1961 also is influencing the market. Retail prices are reasonable, especially on large sizes.

Now especially, when turkeys top the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for April, this food fits into the tiniest budget.

On the fruit counters, grapefruit continues to dominate, with bananas increasing in quantity and decreasing in price. The pink flushed grapefruit remains one of the most economical fruit buys. The grapefruit, both pink and white, are of unusually fine quality for this late in the season.

Many stores are featuring bananas for as low as 10 cents per pound. However quality should be considered when buying, as sometimes the higher priced bananas are the best buy because of less waste and spoilage. You will notice that the supply of fresh pineapples and rhubarb will increase in the next couple of weeks and prices will likely drop slightly.

On the vegetable counters you will find dry onions in very good supply with lower than usual price tags. This is because they're in such plentiful supply. New potatoes are on the markets but have higher price tags than old potatoes, which are reasonable.

Lettuce and cabbage are economical choices this week. Quality found on most markets has been very good.

Greenhouse tomatoes again are on the market, but are not to be considered as an economical buy due to the 49-cent-a-pound price tag. They will be lower as the season progresses.

Grease Accumulation Blamed For Kiln Fire

SUMMITVILLE — An accumulation of high-temperature grease which ignited in a tunnel kiln was blamed for a small fire at the Summitville Tile Co. over the weekend.

A spokesman for the firm said heat from the blaze caused rail in the kiln to warp and the kiln was shut down Saturday for the first time in 10 years.

The grease accumulated in the kiln over a long period, dripping from the axes of brick cars moving through the structure.

There was no great amount of smoke because of exhaust fans which keep the hot air in circulation in the kiln. The fire was discovered Saturday morning when workmen spotted smoke billowing from a door.

Court Of Common Pleas Shows Gain

LISBON — Columbiana County Common Pleas court showed a net gain of 43 cases during March, according to a report of the clerk of courts office to the administrative assistant of the Superior Court.

Beginning March 1, the two courts had 744 cases pending and during the month 88 new cases were filed for a total of 832. During the month, they disposed of 45 cases, leaving 787 pending as of April 1.

A breakdown of disposition shows 16 were tried by the court, four tried by jury, 11 were cognovit and default judgments and 14 were settled and dismissed.

The Court of Appeals had seven cases pending March 1, two more were filed, but it disposed of three cases, leaving six pending as of April 1.

Three traffic-point system cases were filed and disposed of during the month.

3 Men Named For Review In Sewer's Cost

Council enacted legislation Monday night appointing a three-man Equalizing Board to hear about a half a dozen complaints which have been filed against the special assessment levied against property-owners for a Beechwood sanitary sewer project.

Comprised of Walter Hornbeck of St. Clair Ave., William Rea, 1259 Erie St., and Leo Payne of Gaston Ave., the board will meet Thursday night at 7:30 to hear the objections and "equalize them as seems proper, in accordance with law," the resolution provides.

Appointment of an equalizing board is required by law when property - owners file written protests against a special assessment for such an improvement. In the Beechwood work, the assessment amounts to about $5 a front foot. The protests came mainly from owners of vacant lots who said the assessment is far above the actual value of their land.

The equalization board's findings will be reported to Council. A similar board was named to review protests against assessments for a Fisher Park sewer job in 1955. It did not recommend any changes, but later the city assumed an additional portion of the overall cost, allowing a corresponding reduction in individual assessments.

Equalizing boards function most frequently in communities where special assessments vary widely because they are based on the "benefits conferred" on individual pieces of property. But in East Liverpool, the assessments are divided equally among all pieces of property, based on foot frontage.

Affected streets are: Beechwood St., Camp Alley, Center St., Division Alley, Reynolds St., Buxton Alley, Haywood St., Vernia St. and Broad St.

Only President Since 1953

Norman Neal Given 8th Term By Calcutta Firemen

Norman L. Neal of Oakmont was elected to an eighth consecutive one-year term as president when Calcutta volunteer firemen met Monday night.

Neal, a clerk in the Ohio State Employment Service office in East Liverpool, has been the department's only president since it was organized in 1953.

Others elected were Dale Horger, vice president; Clarence Dick, treasurer; Ray Entrikin, secretary; Howard Hickman and Raymond Dunn, three-year trustees; Laverne Seckman, chief; Earl Hickman, assistant chief; Richard Wright, captain, and Lawrence Pierce and Donald Dunn, lieutenants.

Firemen voted to support Judge Louis Tobin's proposed juvenile work camp for boys 14-18 after hearing a report on aims and purposes of the camp by Harvey Moninger. The proposed work camp would be established at Rock Camp.

Advanced sale tickets were distributed for the annual fireman's carnival July 25-29. The strip of 10 tickets sells for $1. The rides will cost a quarter on the carnival grounds.

Specifications for a new fire truck were presented firemen for their consideration by Donald Miller, a representative of the Ward LaFrance Fire Equipment Co. of New York.

Robert Dunn reported on a series of fish suppers sponsored during the Lenten season by the department. Dates for future suppers will be approved later.

Twenty-seven members were present and Neal conducted business.

In his annual report, Chief Seckman said the department responded to 17 alarms during 1960, two for house fires, four in vehicles, one drowning, three runs to assist other departments, one resuscitor call, three grass fires and three miscellaneous alarms.

"I want to thank all the residents of the community for their vigilance in preventing loss of life and serious property damage by fire," Chief Seckman said.

The next meeting is Monday night at 8 in the fire hall.

Board Will Seek Summer Waiver On Sewage Fees

The Board of Education agreed Monday night to contact the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the water department, to determine if sewage charges can be waived during the summer months for sprinkling lawns at three school buildings.

It authorized C. Walter Ashbaugh, president, and Supt. Ralph W. Betts to confer with the utilities board about a suggestion to waive sewage charges at Westgate, East Junior High and LaCroft buildings where lawns are watered during June, July and August when no school is held.

The suggestion was offered by Ashbaugh after members discussed the possibility of installing separate meters in an effort to reduce water costs. Because of the numerous outside outlets at Westgate and East Junior High, however, any savings would be wiped out by the cost of the meters or the expense of piping the water through to a single meter, members pointed out.

The school district's water bill formerly was less than $400 a year but is six times as much since sewage rates were added to water bills with the opening of the municipal sewage disposal plant. The water and sewage bill for last year was $2,536.

New water rates, which went into effect Saturday, will boost the cost more than $250 a year, Betts said in response to a question. The board appropriated $3,000 to pay water and sewage fees this year.

Texas To Pick Replacement For Johnson

By The Associated Press
Texans vote today to select a Senate replacement for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Republicans get the first results on their campaign to cut into Democratic strength in the big cities as St. Louis elects a mayor.

Other elections across the country feature mayor's races in Los Angeles and Aurora, Ill., and voting for state officials in Wisconsin.

On Monday, Democrats apparently captured seven of nine races for statewide offices in Michigan. The outcome of the other two races still was in doubt.

Voters approved a proposal calling for holding of a convention to revise Michigan's 53-year-old constitution, but a plan to allow the state to use $5 million of its credit for new industrial or municipal projects apparently was defeated.

Most interest today centers on Texas where the ballot is cluttered with 71 names. No candidate is expected to receive the required 51 per cent vote in the special election and a runoff is scheduled June 3 between the top two candidates.

The election is to fill the Senate seat vacated when Johnson resigned to become vice president. An estimated 1.25 million will vote.

The six leaders in the field of 70 active candidates—one entry died March 30 of injuries received in an automobile accident—are: Sen. William A. Blakley, D-Tex. 62, wealthy Dallas businessman named by Gov. Price Daniel to replace Johnson until an election could be held.

John G. Tower, 35, former college government professor, who was Johnson's Republican opponent last fall when the vice president ran for both the Senate and the vice presidency.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, 48, Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., 38, Maury Maverick Jr., 40, State Sen. Henry B. Gonzales, 44, the only Latin-American in the field.

Tower and Blakley are conservatives, Wilson and Wright are moderates and Maverick and Gonzales are liberals. Tower is the only Republican on the ballot. Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, a Democrat, seeks a third term in the St. Louis election.

He faces a strong challenge from his Republican rival, Ben Lindensch, an auto dealer who never has held public office.

Early this year, the Republican National Committee announced a drive against Democratic big city strongholds. It marked St. Louis as a battleground.

Heavy Democratic voting in the big cities won several key states for President Kennedy last November. Missouri was one of that number.

In Los Angeles, Mayor Norris Poulson also seeks a third term. Voters generally have been apathetic. Less than half the registered voters are expected to go to the polls.

Eight challengers are on the ballot, but only two are considered threats. They are Samuel W. Yorty, former Democratic congressman, and City Councilman Patrick D. McGee.

In another mayor's race, Paul Egan—probably the only mayor who ever appointed a parrot as police chief—seeks a third four-year term as mayor of Aurora, Ill.

Egan trailed his opponent, Jay L. Hunter, 70, realtor and retired school principal, by about a 4 to 1 margin in the primary.

Win or lose, the city of 60,000 isn't likely to forget Egan, who left the unemployment assistance rolls in 1953 to become mayor.

Throughout his eight years in office, Egan feuded with his police department. He fired more than a dozen police chiefs, some of them twice.

Wisconsin elects a Supreme Court justice, a superintendent of public instruction and decides a half dozen constitutional amendment proposals in a non-partisan election.

Election officials expect about one-third of Wisconsin's 2.5 million registered voters to take part in the election.

Branches, Local Institutes

2 Bills Offered To Expand College Education In Ohio

By ART PARKS and PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Expanded state-supported facilities for college education apparently will be in branches of present state universities or in locally backed technical institutes.

This became apparent Monday with introduction in the State Senate of two bills designed to replace a measure proposing community colleges. That measure was killed last week by the Senate Education and Health Committee.

The chief sponsor of the twin bills was Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Alen, chairman of the Senate committee.

Pepple, since he won an Ohio State University branch for his home city of Lima, has been wedded to the principle of branch colleges.

His two bills, which he announced last week at the burial ceremony for the community college bill, highlighted the opening of the 14th work week for Ohio's lawmakers.

Because of the press of thousands of would-be Ohio college students against the gates of existing institutions, the apparent cast of the die in favor of branch colleges and technical institutes has particular meaning.

"I haven't talked with the leadership yet," Pepple conceded, "but I hope to persuade the leadership to make these bills policy so they may be acted upon quickly."

While the controversy over higher education mounted, there were these other legislative developments:

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to stiffen penalties for second offenders who break into autos to steal tires or parts or who take a joyride in an auto without the owner's consent.

The state has run out of poor relief matching money, leaders were told, and will not be able to meet its 50-50 matching obligation with local relief districts unless the legislature acts in a week.

A letter from Finance Director James H. Maloon to House Finance Committee Chairman Ralph Fisher, R-Wayne, pointed out that a supplemental appropriations bill offered more than three weeks ago, still has not been submitted to the House. It would provide relief money for the rest of the fiscal year, which ends June 30.

The House joined the Senate in adopting a resolution congratulating the basketball team of Wittenberg University at Springfield for winning the National Collegiate Athletic Association small college title, and for an outstanding season record.

Still in a basketball mood, the House also saluted Portsmouth High School's Class AA state champion team. And the Senate went along with a House resolution declaring Ohio to be the basketball capital of the world.

The House passed and sent to the Senate measures which would:

Prevent an individual, who leaves a civilian job for military service and serves for a full career of perhaps 20 years, to then claim the right of reemployment. The amendment would limit to four years the length of service after which reemployment rights can be claimed, plus any additional service imposed without the individual's volunteering.

Allow loans to a developer by building and loan associations of up to two-thirds of the appraised value of undeveloped land and two-thirds of the cost for the contemplated residential development. Backers said the loans—which have a five-year limit—would help developers who do not build on a large scale.

Representatives prepared to vote today on a bill providing that, when a conservancy district is dissolved, funds are repaid to the counties according to the ratio in which they originally were contributed.

The Senate plans to act on a bill giving municipal and county courts exclusive jurisdiction in civil cases involving not more than $1,000.

Verdict No One Wants

Godfrey Tells Of Cancer

(Two years ago TV star Arthur Godfrey underwent surgery for lung cancer. Now honorary education chairman of the American Cancer Society's current crusade, Godfrey tells about his own bout with the disease in this first of three articles.)

By ARTHUR GODFREY
Written for The Associated Press

I was in Hawaii doing a telecast when I first noticed the pain. It wasn't severe or steady; but it made me uneasy. I decided it was heart. So whenever it got out of hand, I'd dive into the Waikiki surf, swim out, and tell myself: "If it's a coronary, okay, let it come now."

Since it didn't, I changed my diagnosis to gas pressure.

Back home, the doctor did not agree. His diagnosis was based on X-rays. After he examined them and me, he gave me the verdict.

It was the kind of verdict nobody wants.

As the doctor spoke, the lights went out in Godfrey's great big beautiful world.

It would have been easier if I'd known more about cancer—if I'd known then what I know today—that there are now, here in the United States, well over a million people who also once heard the diagnosis, cancer, and, after treatment, lived on to hear the doctor say: "Well, you've passed the five-year checkup. Guess we can both relax."

I hope to hear those words too—three years from now. Because it's just two years ago that I underwent surgery for a cancer in the left lung. The doctor says I'm in fine shape. There's no trace of cancer in me. But a patient is considered cured only when there has been no recurrence of the disease for five years after treatment.

But I acquired an education in the days and months after surgery; involuntary at first, it became an education I consciously pursued when I recovered. For years I'd been active in the fight against cancer. But now I wanted to know fundamental facts.

What I found out is hopeful in the extreme. I want to share this knowledge with the public, because it may help other people face the ordeal of cancer if they must—and escape it, if they can. Many thousands of lives could be saved if more people knew the facts about cancer cure and prevention. To help spread these facts is the purpose of these articles.

My advice? Get a checkup—get one every year even if you have nothing wrong, and if you suspect cancer—if you have one of its seven warning signals for more than two weeks—see your doctor without delay. It may not be cancer at all. But if it is, the sooner it's treated, the better your chance for full recovery. Keep away from quacks, fake remedies and home remedies. Only surgery or radiation can cure you.

Second, what did my reading and interviews teach me? As of April 1, 1961, there were over 1 1/2 million people in the United States cured of cancer—men, women, children.

That's another thing I learned. Cancer can strike at any age. It often hits hardest at the young and defenseless. More children die of cancer than of any other disease; in half the cases they die of a cancer called leukemia.

The third thing I learned was that this most dreaded type of cancer is, from a research point of view, the most hopeful. A number of scientists believe that the big breakthrough in cancer control may come in leukemia. Some believe that this cancer is virus-caused. Viruses have been used to produce leukemia in mice, and also to make mice immune to leukemia.

Will we ever be able to vaccinate our children against leukemia, as we now do against polio?

An increasing number of scientists now believe that it will eventually be possible to produce vaccines to mobilize the body's defenses against cancer. When? Maybe in 1 year, in 10 years, in 25. Nobody knows the date. But everybody knows that money for research can help advance the date.

Next: Lung cancer.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My mother who is 73 years old has made her home with us for 10 years and we love her dearly. Mother is in the hospital, dying from an incurable disease.

The question my husband and I would like you to answer is this: Our two sons, 10 and 12, keep asking if they can go to the hospital to see Grandma. She is under heavy sedation but in her delirium she often asks for the boys.

My husband wants to take them to her bedside but I say it would be too hard on them. Grandma has lost a lot of weight and looks dreadful. I hate for the boys to see her like this. Then, too, if she doesn't recognize them they may become frightened.

My husband says this is one for Ann Landers. We've agreed to take your advice. — DIFFERENT SIDES.

Dear D.S.: You cannot protect your children forever against the knowledge that illness, pain and even death are a part of life. In my opinion, the boys should be taken to see Grandma — for a few minutes.

Prepare them in advance by explaining that she is very sick and may not recognize them. Remember — the way you and your husband behave may set a lifelong example for handling grief and sorrow. If you go to pieces, the children will be shaken, too. If you are calm and in control, they will follow your example.

Bad Habit Broken

Dear Ann: For two years I dated an eligible bachelor who lived across the hall. He used to come in for dinner every night and he'd pop in for breakfast, too, if he smelled bacon. Sundays he was a permanent fixture, the standard gag being, "I might as well burn out your TV tubes."

After two years of this I decided the arrangement was too habit-forming and never would lead anywhere. When I brought up the subject of marriage he deftly switched to the trouble in the Congo or the price of soy beans. So I moved to another apartment about a mile away.

Now I never see him unless I invite him for dinner. I understand an attractive gal rented my apartment and he's over there a lot. Did I make a mistake by moving? Do you think I should have been more patient? — IN DOUBT.

Dear In: Your only mistake was in not waking up about 60 dozen eggs and 25 pounds of bacon sooner.

Bachelors who love home cooking and other people's TV sets want the comforts of marriage but not the responsibilities. Let the new neighbor feed his face.

Share The Ride

Dear Ann: We are friendly with a couple who live nearby. The men work for the same company and about three evenings a week we go somewhere together. We always use our car, although theirs is just as comfortable—in fact it's newer. The stock phrase is: "What time will you pick us up?"

Since it's our car we are stuck for all parking costs, gas and so on. They get free portal-to-portal transportation. My husband and I are irked to think that they never offer to pick us up. How can we broach the subject without sounding cheap? — LIVERY SERVICE.

Dear Liv: Next time simply say, "Our tires could use a rest. How about picking us up for a change?" Then be sure to offer to pick them up the next time you go out, making the point that you intend to operate on an alternating basis.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Council Asks Tax Aid For Vitrified Industry

Council enacted a resolution Monday night requesting Congress to restore an income tax depletion allowance to the vitrified clay pipe industry to restore it to an equal footing with its principal competitors, manufacturers of concrete pipe.

The resolution points out that changes in the tax law made in 1960 were "inequitable" because they placed a greater financial burden on the vitrified pipe industry.

The action is aimed particularly at aiding the American Vitrified Products Co., which has plants in East Liverpool and Lisbon. Copies of the resolution will be sent to Rep. Wayne L. Hays of the 18th Ohio District, Ohio Sens. Frank Lausche and Stephen M. Young and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The legislation authorizes purchase of: 250 tons each of hydrate or pebble lime, 50 tons of activated carbon, 18,000 pounds of liquid chlorine and 5,000 pounds of sodium chlorite.

The board also was authorized to take bids on: 2,000 feet each of 4-inch and 6-inch cast iron pipe, two joints of 10-inch 18-foot pipe, six joints of 6-inch 18-foot pipe and 100 water meters.

Enthusiasm Grows From Other's Success

Find ways of renewing your enthusiasm for slimming down and you've got it made. This zestful quality called enthusiasm projects your goal to the forefront of your mind. Happily engaged with thoughts of slipping into a smaller-sized dress, you won't be dwelling on the food you are missing.

By Ida Jean Kain

From the letters it is apparent that hearing of the success of others can serve as a renewing force for your enthusiasm. Tune in ... "I feel I should write and tell your readers how I lost from 159 to 120 pounds. At work one night, I happened to pick up the paper and read about the woman who weighed over 200 pounds and had lost down to 140 pounds.

"I promptly sent for your calorie chart and started to keep track of my calories. I had tried many times to diet, but I knew so little about calories I had no way of dieting systematically. It is important to know the calorie score.

I AM 5 FEET 2 and when I started on my diet I weighed 159 pounds. I put myself on a 1,000-calorie-a-day diet. I lost slowly at first, from a half to one pound a week. But after I was on the diet for about three weeks I began to lose a pound or two every week.

"I now weigh 120 pounds. My thanks go to you for I always read your columns and you seem to bolster my spirits at the needed times.

"I am not flabby at all. However, I would surely like to have some good toning exercises for the muscles of the abdomen. I've always had a large stomach. While I dieted I took exercises, too.

"I did wear a size 16 dress, now I wear a size 12 easily. I am 24 years old. Everyone is amazed at my losing so much on my own will power. The secret is that I really had a desire to lose."

Desire ... that is a key word in her letter. Desire is the necessary ingredient to strength of will. About exercise ... most dieters, in fact most everyone, requires exercise to restore tone to the abdomen. The following exercise is most effective.

Position: Lying on back on floor, knees flexed, soles of feet on floor. Place both hands on left thigh, right on top of left.

Action: Raise right shoulder off floor and slide hands toward left knee. Hold to slow count of six. Holding muscle contraction helps to restore tone. Repeat five times.

CHANGE POSITION of hands, lift left shoulder off floor and repeat five times, holding muscle contraction to slow count of six.

Exercise quickens your feeling of well-being and is an excellent way to bolster enthusiasm. The streamlining effects of regular exercises are wonderfully rewarding.

en by Auditor Lawrence C. Apple-gate and a third selected by the first two, the legislation provides.

If the taxpayer is dissatisfied with the review board's decision, he may appeal next to Common Pleas Court, it adds.

At present there is no local authority to act on complaints against the tax law. They must be taken direct to court.

The board will adopt its own procedural rules and keep a record of its transactions, the ordinance provides. Its hearings will be private, following a provision of the original ordinance which requires that information on tax matters will be confidential.

A dissatisfied taxpayer has 30 days in which to appeal a tax department ruling to the review board. If he still is dissatisfied after a hearing, he has another 30 days to take his case to court, the ordinance provides.

In another amendment, Council specifically exempted supplemental unemployment benefits from the tax. In the original ordinance, the exemption of SUB pay was implied, but not spelled out definitely.

Another change alters the way in which the revenue from the tax will be allocated.

Under the amendment, the revenue will be used "to the extent needed" to defray operating expenses and the balance will be set aside for capital improvements, including street work. The original ordinance provided that not more than 40 per cent of the revenue would be used for operating expenses in 1961 and not more than 25 per cent would be used for that purpose in subsequent years. The balance would be utilized for capital improvements, the ordinance provided.

The change in allocation was required because Council already has appropriated about $109,000 of the $150,000 expected in 1961 to defray operating expenses.

Appropriation of the income tax revenue to cover operating expenses was necessary because general fund receipts are off severely from 1960. Councilman John Melvin, finance committee chairman, explained when the annual appropriation ordinance was enacted.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Nixon Leads A Busy Life

It is 8:45 a.m. in Los Angeles. The place is the law firm of Adams, Duque & Hazelton, where Richard M. Nixon's secretary answers the long-distance phone call from New York with: "Mr. Nixon is out of the office."

"Is he expected this morning?" asks the voice from New York.

Marie Torre

"He was in," responds the secretary of the firm's new counsel. "He attended a meeting and left."

"Would you ask him to return this call?"

"I will, but it might be a long wait. There are 365 other calls he has to return before yours."

THE MAIL ROUTE to Mr. Nixon is equally unenviable. A former Nixon associate estimates there are some 34,000 letters he has been unable to answer since he left Washington. He reportedly is receiving between 3,000 and 5,000 letters each week.

It is this modern-day blockade that broadcasting interests have been trying to penetrate since the former vice president of the United States withdrew from the Washington arena and became, unwittingly, a prime prospect for public affairs endeavors programming. TV's most impressive area.

Some broadcasters have made minor progress. Their interest, that is, has been at least conveyed to Mr. Nixon.

At NBC, news chief William R. McAndrews admits that an open invitation to Mr. Nixon was extended recently through White House correspondent Herb Karpow. A letter from Mr. McAndrews to Mr. Nixon followed up.

"WHAT WE SAID in the letter," explained Mr. McAndrews, "is that any time Mr. Nixon has something to say and wants to say it, we'll be glad to put any of our news programs at his disposal—'Meet the Press,' 'Today,' 'Chet Huntley Reporting.'"

"Our understanding is, though, that Mr. Nixon would not want to appear on television for at least six months after the new administration came in."

An independent producer, one with Washington connection, has four news specials awaiting Mr. Nixon's availability, while at CBS an executive who requested anonymity admitted that a written offer has been made to Mr. Nixon.

The TV executive added: "Anybody in our business would be constantly on the lookout for a name such as Richard Nixon."

OF THE INTERESTED parties, perhaps the broadcasting official with closest tie to Mr. Nixon is James Hagerty, former President Eisenhower's press secretary who now is vice president in charge of news and public affairs at ABC.

Mr. Hagerty denied a report that he had made a pact with Mr. Nixon whereby he wouldn't make a TV proposal until four months after the Washington departure.

"That wasn't the way it was at all," said Mr. Hagerty, who doesn't, however, deny his interest in Mr. Nixon's services.

"Look," I wouldn't attempt to harass the man at this time. We're personal friends, aside from being formerly associated professionally. We share lockers side by side at a country club.

"What I did say to him last time we met was, 'When you get rested up, and when you come East, let's sit down and talk.'"

A former Nixon associate tidily summed up the situation when he remarked: "So much broadcast money available to Nixon, but he's so busy, so in earnest about making a living in law that he hasn't the time even to listen."

THUS FAR, according to our arithmetic, there will be four major TV previews next Sunday on the Adolf Eichmann trial. . . . CBS's "The 20th Century," an excellent documentary series, will continue next season. The sponsor, which recently announced its intention to defect, thought the better of it and renewed for a fifth season. . . .

No one who pinch-hits for Jack Paar quite measures up to his effectiveness as a late-night cicerone, but Joey Bishop, who's been minding the store since Paar went abroad, has been first-rate. . . .

Next Sunday NBC will rerun award-winning news films that won distinction for the network in 1960.

Bush Takes Oath As ICC Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Ohio Commerce Director John W. Bush was sworn in Monday as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark administered the oath of office to the 51-year-old Bush of Portsmouth, Ohio, and another new commission member, William H. Tucker, Athol, Mass. Their appointments by President Kennedy give Democrats a 6-5 majority on the commission for the first time in eight years. Both Bush and Tucker are Democrats.

Bush, a native of Columbus, Ohio, will fill an unexpired term running to Dec. 31, 1964. He takes the place of former commissioner Anthony F. Arpaia of Connecticut, who resigned March 15.

Attending the swearing-in ceremonies were Bush's wife and his daughter, Emily, a student at the University of Michigan.

New School Head Due

Man In Amnesty Case

Harold Amos of Fairview St., one of three prisoners granted Easter weekend amnesty by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff and arrested four hours later on an intoxication charge, was fined $10 and costs Monday by Acting Judge Robert Kapp.

Before his release Thursday afternoon under the decree, Amos, who was serving out an intoxication charge, promised Judge Chertoff he would not become drunk over the Easter weekend.

However, police arrested Amos Thursday night on a new intoxication charge and said he was carrying a fifth of whiskey which he claimed he had purchased in Chester.

Amos is one of nine men whose names were "posted" at city taverns as habitual drunks about a month ago under an old city ordinance forbidding tavern owners to serve those whose names have been posted.

Ohioan Among Six

Adventurers Seized

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Floyd L. Hurst, 21, of Dayton, Ohio, was one of six young adventurers seized by the border patrol as they tried to leave for Cuba Sunday in a stolen 42-foot boat. The steel-hull gunboat was originally brought to Florida by escaping anti-Castro Cubans.

Edward P. Ahrens, chief of the Immigration Service office at Miami, said he understood the five Americans and a Canadian ran the boat around at Key West. A border patrolman and another federal officer went out in a small boat and apprehended four of them. Two who had already left the boat were arrested as they fled up the Florida Keys in a car.

Board Approves Choice

Commencement Speaker Will Be Aide At Kent State

Dr. Dwight Arnold of Kent State University will be the principal speaker at the annual commencement exercises of East Liverpool High School.

The Board of Education Monday night gave formal approval to Dr. Arnold's selection on the recommendation of the high school staff. He is head of the university's guidance department.

Commencement exercises will be held Monday, May 29, in Memorial Auditorium following baccalaureate on Sunday, May 28.

The resignations of two Westgate Junior High teachers, effective at the end of this term, and the appointments of three elementary instructors for the next year were approved by the board.

The resignations were submitted by Mrs. Marjorie Wright, whose husband has been transferred, and Dale Wilson, who plans to move to Florida.

Named as elementary teachers were Lillian Kohler, a graduate of ELHS who will receive her degree from Kent State in June; Sandra Lee Painter, a graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College who now is teaching in Cleveland, and Mrs. Velma Jackson.

The board also approved a request from the County Election Board to use some schools for polling places at the May 2 primaries. Nine rentals also were granted. They were:

Westgate cafeteria to the Kiwanis Club Saturday for a pancake supper; Westgate auditorium to the Federation of Women's Clubs on Saturday afternoon, April 15, for its annual play to raise funds to purchase shoes for needy children; Westgate gymnasium on the night of April 15 to the Columbiana County Parent-Teacher Association Council for a round and square dance.

East Junior High gymnasium April 15 to the Lincoln PTA for a party for its dancing class; Westgate auditorium to SPEBSQSA, Inc., on the afternoon of April 23 for an area chorus contest; Westgate auditorium, gymnasium and cafeteria to the Junior Chamber of Commerce on May 13 for the post-prom party; Westgate auditorium to Job's Daughters on May 19 for a style show; East Junior High auditorium to the First Baptist Church on May 26 for a music recital, and Westgate school grounds to the Blue & White Nonpareil Club for the week of May 29 for a carnival.

The board also went on record in favor of a pending bill in the Ohio House of Representatives which would allow the Ohio School Boards Association to raise the maximum fee it can charge for membership from $150 to $600. It instructed Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, to write members of the House education finance committee and Columbiana County representatives.

C. Walter Ashbaugh, president, read a letter from the regional organization which explained the bill would not automatically increase membership fees. Any increase would have to be approved at the annual meeting of the state group.

Membership fees are based on enrollment. The board's fee now is $120 yearly, and members praised the services of the state group.

Miss Liebschner reported a balance of only $46,682 in all school funds with $15,043 for operating expenses.

Ex-Potter Combs Area For Iowa . . .

Lou Holtz, who cut his teeth on football at St. Aloysius School and ELHS before going on to Kent State University, has been in the area the past few days looking over football talent for the University of Iowa.

Lou, in his capacity as assistant freshman coach at Iowa, has full authority to line up prospective football talent for the Iowa City school.

His primary interests in the area are Kenny Cunningham of East Liverpool, Don Davidson of Salem and Charlie King of Alliance.

Talking "scouting language," Lou said we rate these three boys as "blue chip" players. By that he explained "they are the best we could get anywhere." They are the boys that Iowa more or less places on the "preferred" list.

Lou works on a staff headed by Jerry Burns, Iowa's new head football coach who replaced Forest Evashevski, now athletic director at Iowa.

"Iowa is very high on Cunningham," Holtz informed us. "After screening films of quarterbacks from all over the United States, Cunningham and one other quarterback are the top choices of the Iowa football staff," he pointed out.

He talked with Cunningham Monday before heading back to Iowa and the Potter quarterback of last season plans to visit Iowa in two weeks.

At Iowa, Holtz pointed out to Cunningham that he probably could play both football and basketball if he wished. The Hawkeyes can offer Cunningham a full athletic scholarship in either sport.

"Cunningham is already well known at Iowa through the newspapers. And basketball coach Milt Scheuerman is very interested in Kenny," Lou added.

HOLTZ is very impressed with Burns, who led Iowa to a tie with Minnesota for the Big Ten championship in 1960, his first year as head coach.

Lou says that Burns wasn't a great football player. He was a fourth-string back at Michigan. In his senior year, 1959, Michigan won the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Burns told Holtz, the only reason he made the Rose Bowl trip was that he and another back had to flip a coin to see who would go and he won.

AS FAR AS Lou is concerned, he can stay at Iowa with a good possibility of moving up the ranks. Lou never played much football, weighing 145 pounds, at the most. He was a member of the Kent State squad for three seasons. At 24, he is a keen judge of football talent. After talking to him for any length of time, you realize he knows the gridiron sport inside out. He should go a long way in the coaching profession.

His mission at Iowa is twofold. While coaching the freshmen team, he is also completing work towards a master's degree.

Whether he will remain at Iowa, is not certain. He has been offered the No. 1 assistant job at Central Missouri State and also is one of several candidates who are being considered for an assistant's job at William & Mary College.

Game To Remember . . .

ANYTIME the Tri-State tournament is brought up during a conversation veteran Tri-State followers always recall one game which stands out above any others.

It was played in 1949, with Duquesne University, under the banner of Fleetwing, nipping Patsy's Club of Beaver Falls in a triple overtime.

Being an observer myself that night, we never can forget the glittering performance by Charlie Cooper.

The Fleetwing-Patsy's battle was a semi-final contest. The game was marked by the fact that Fleetwing finished the fray with only four players, since five Dukes had fouled out.

With Cooper on the Fleetwing club, were such standouts as "Hooks" Farrell and John Gallagher.

In the third overtime session, Patsy's had grabbed a one-point lead with less than a minute to play and the Beaver Falls club had possession and attempted to freeze the ball.

Patsy's had passed in under the basket, but out of nowhere came Cooper, the Dukes' great All-American pivot man. He snagged a pass and dribbled down the floor, knowing time was running out.

Cooper stopped at the end of the foul circle and let go with a one-hander which ripped through the chords, giving Fleetwing the victory.

The contest will have to go down as the most stirring battle in tournament history.

Soundly beaten physically, the tired Dukes dropped the championship game to the Jigger Room, 56-50.

In the game with Patsy's, Cooper poured in 31 points. He went on to gain the most valuable player award.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

LOOKING over past Tri-State tournament records, Tony Paulsey of Campbell, Ohio, was the only performer among the thousands who have taken part in the tournament who ever was named most valuable player two years in a row. The honors came to Tony in 1927 and 1928.

BILL LAUGHLIN, former Potter great who later coached at ELHS before moving to Washington, Pa., goes down as the only player ever to sweep three top awards. He was the MVP, high point man and best foul shot in the 1942 tourney.

HAROLD DAVIS, the former Westminster standout who was named the best all-around player of last year's Tri-State tournament when he performed for the champion Riverview team, will have to sit this one out. He suffered a broken leg last month.

MIKE DITKA, All-American end this past season for the University of Pittsburgh, performed for the Punxsutawney squad in the Tri-State tournament Monday night. He came here with several members of the Pitt varsity cage team who also are on the Punxsutawney roster.

THREE MORE members of Massillon's state championship football team have been awarded college scholarships.

Virgil Bukuts and Martin Gugov have received scholarships to Ohio State University, while John Larson, regular quarterback for the Tigers, has accepted an offer from Bowling Green.

LOU VENDITTI probably will be pulling stakes for good Friday. He is expected to receive his official release from East Liverpool High School then. Lou is anxious to get over to Canton in order to start his program for the Lincoln grid-ders.

PFC. RONALD H. POOLE, son of Mrs. Violet Poole, 108 E. 6th St., is home on a 30 day furlough after spending two years in Hawaii. While in Hawaii he participated in an inter-service swimming meet and was awarded a trophy and a medal. He also served as a life guard and a swimming instructor. He returned home Friday and will report later to Ft. Knox, Ky.

Appointment Given Formal OK By School Board

The appointment of Robert Hedmond as head football coach of East Liverpool High School for the 1961-62 school year was ratified formally Monday night by the Board of Education.

Hedmond's appointment was announced several weeks ago by Supt. Ralph W. Betts after board members had informally agreed to the selection.

The board also accepted the resignation of Lou Venditti as a teacher effective Friday, his final day. Venditti, who resigned as coach to accept a similar post at Canton Lincoln, has sought an early release from his contract in order to begin his program in Canton.

Probe Launched In Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York County grand jury began an investigation today of the latest college basketball scandals that already have led to the arrest of two men.

The pair, Aaron Wagman, 28, and Joseph Hacken, 41, both of New York, were scheduled to appear for a hearing before Magistrate Louis Wallach in felony court.

Both have been charged with bribing two Seton Hall players and one from the University of Connecticut to shave points on games in which their teams were involved.

One New York police source said the scandal could involve from 15 to 25 colleges.

But so far, District Attorney Frank Hogan — who also handled the 1951 fixing scandal — has made no new revelations.

Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians is the only major league baseball pitcher to throw a winning no-hit game on opening day, having accomplished the feat in 1940.

Roberts Continues Scoreless Pace; Friend Allows 3 Hits In 7 Innings

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Robin Roberts, puffed ear and all, has taken another big stride toward the Philadelphia Phillies' opening day assignment that used to be his by habit.

The veteran pitcher, 34, who has had only one winning season in the last four after ranking for years as the National League's top right-hander, pushed his string of scoreless exhibition innings to 23 1-3 Monday. Then a drive off his right ear sent him to the showers sooner than Manager Gene Mauch had intended.

Roberts pitched 6 1-3 scoreless innings in the Phils' 3-2, 16-inning victory over the New York Yankees—then wobbled off the field at St. Petersburg, Fla., when a one-hop smash off the bat of the Yanks' Clete Boyer struck him on the ear.

The 13-year Phils' vet is undergoing treatment at a Clearwater, Fla., hospital to guard against a "cauliflower ear" but the injury isn't considered serious and he is expected to go as scheduled against the Pirates in an exhibition at Wichita on Friday.

Barring further complications, that'll tune the 6-2, 200-pound Roberts for the Phils' opener at Los Angeles a week from tonight at the Coliseum.

Back-to-back doubles by Tony Taylor and Johnny Callison broke up the game against the Yankees in the feature of a Monday exhibition program that also saw Roberts' former teammate, Curt Simmons, pitch St. Louis to a 4-3 victory over Chicago's White Sox; Pittsburgh whip Cincinnati 5-2; the new Los Angeles Angels crush the San Francisco 12-8; Washington edge Baltimore 2-1 in 13 innings; Minnesota wallop Detroit 11-4 and Cleveland outlast Boston 10-9.

Simmons, who helped Roberts and Jim Konstanty pitch the Philadelphia Whiz Kids to their startling NL pennant in 1950, allowed but two runs and six hits in eight innings for the Cardinals. St. Louis scored all its runs in the sixth, three on Joe Cunningham's bases-loaded triple.

Bob Friend, vying with Vern Law for Pittsburgh's opening day assignment, allowed but three hits in seven innings against the Reds in a second successive strong performance.

The Angels, who probably will play many such free-wheeling games with their pitching shortage, used homers by Del Rice, Steve Bilko and Faye Throneberry to whip Juan Marichal and the Giants. Marichal, Giants' rookie ace last year, was blasted for seven runs and 11 hits in five innings. Felipe Alou homered twice for San Francisco.

Catcher Frank Zupo's bad throw on Marty Keough's bunt enabled Jim Mahoney to score from second with the 13th inning run that beat the Orioles. Rookie Joe McClain, looming bigger every day in the Senators' plans, worked nine innings and allowed one run and seven hits.

The ex-Senators—the Minnesota Twins—rode their home run power over Detroit, accounting for 10 of their 11 runs on two circuit shots by Harmon Killebrew and one apiece by Don Mincher, Dan Dobbek and Elmer Valo. Chuck Stobbs kept the Tigers under control with a yield of just three hits in seven innings.

Boston's injury list, already including outfielders Jackie Jensen and Carl Yastrzemski, added All-Star third baseman Frank Malzone, who sprained an ankle sliding into second base. He'll probably be sidelined a few days.

For the second straight year, Bart's Bar, always an early entry, failed to show up and Muzzy's Bar of Midland picked up a forfeit victory to advance to the quarter-final round.

Six members of the Riverview squad hit the double figures as all eight squad members shared heavily in the scoring.

Quinlain "Skeeder" Sullins of the Wingfoots fired in 19 points while former Little All-American Bill Riegel, also a member of the Goodyear and Len Nelson, former standout at Muskingum, each flipped in 11 points. Riverview also sported Mickey Yugovich and Howie McElroy, past performers for Youngstown University, along with Cebe Price of Akron and an ex-Marshall College star.

Hustling Joe Blaha of Martins Ferry and West Liberty College paced Alex's Carry-Out to the quarter-finals with a 30-point performance as the local entry eliminated a stubborn Steubenville Independent squad. Franklin Jackson aided the cause with 19 points while Bill Almashey, ex-Martins Ferry and Dayton cager, whipped in 14 points. Paul James added 13.

John Iams, formerly of East Liverpool, kept Steubenville in the contest with his nifty play and gave the locals fits with a 27-point performance. Alex's trailed at halftime, 39-33.

John Fridely, regular for the University of Pittsburgh this past season, scored 18 markers for Punxsutawney in its narrow victory over Canton's Bloom Drugs.

Scoring honors for the evening went to Don Williams of Bloom's with 34 markers.

Jockey Rides 9 Winners In First 2 Days

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—The railbirds at Laurel Race Course may have difficulty pronouncing Herberto Hinojosa's name, but the 25-year-old jockey is making it easy for them at the payoff windows.

During the first two days of Laurel's 28-day spring meeting, Hinojosa—he pronounces it Heen-oh-sa—has ridden nine winners, finished third with two mounts, and out of the money on four occasions.

A native of Brownsville, Tex., he started as a jockey in 1953. After several years of riding at small tracks in the Midwest, he moved to the big time.

Although he is the fourth leading rider in the nation this year and was second only to Johnny Sellers at Hialeah's winter meeting, this is Hinojosa's first assignment in Maryland.

He made his Maryland debut last Saturday by winning five of the six races he entered—the best performance of his career. On six other occasions, Hinojosa had won four times on a single card.

Cleveland Benedictine College Coach Resigns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Marlo Termini, 35-year-old graduate of the University of Dayton, has resigned as head basketball coach at Cleveland Benedictine High School.

He had joined the Bengal staff last fall after serving in the same capacity for seven years at Cleveland Holy Name. Termini says he wants to get a job with a public school because "it would offer more security."

IBM Machine, Cubs' Staff Of Coaches Will Run Team

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Sometime next August the Chicago Cubs will be playing the Milwaukee Braves and a member of the Cub college of coaches will have the task of making out a batting order to face the great Warren Spahn.

"Who will it be in left field," wonders the Cub coach, "Richie Ashburn or Billy Williams?"

He presses a button and presto, out pops a card stating, "You'd better use this guy instead of so-and-so."

The Cubs, as everybody in the sports world should know by now, do not have a manager. They have nine coaches and an IBM machine. There have been jokes about rotating the coaches with most of them getting a crack at running the team.

But there's nothing funny about the use of the IBM machine which should result into one of the deepest penetrations into the vast valley of baseball statistics.

Every time a Cub batter hits the ball, the result will be logged. For example, say the Cubs are playing the Braves, Spahn is pitching and Ashburn is the batter.

The master sheet is made out with the data, where the game is played, whether it is at night or day and so on.

On a three-and-two count, Ashburn walks his first time at bat. The walk is recorded in one column and another column shows he has reached base. The next time up, Ashburn hits the first pitch for a double, sending home a runner from second base.

In the various columns, Ashburn is credited with a hit, a two-base hit, two total bases, having reached base, an opportunity to drive in a run, a run-batted-in and a line drive.

Line drives, pop flies and ground balls all have their respective columns. The third time Ashburn grounds out and the fourth time up he grounds into a double play.

All this not only gives a coach a complete line on what Ashburn does against Spahn, but it also complicates what Ashburn does against left-handers in games at home and in games played during the day.

It's a monumental task since tabs are kept on every Cub who bats in a game and against the various pitchers used.

But under this system, there should no longer be guesswork involved, especially in sending in a pinch batter.

Equal Attention Urged In Praise Of UC Team

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of the University of Cincinnati, told the UC Boosters Club Monday that good sports should give equal attention to all official documents praising the UC Bearcats basketball team.

The documents referred to were resolutions of praise adopted by the Cincinnati City Council and Chamber of Commerce the Hamilton County commissioners and personal letters from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to members of the team.

Gov. DiSalle was hanged in effigy on the UC campus and denounced by UC supporters when he praised Ohio State's team as "All-America" after the Bearcats beat the Bucks 70-65 in the NCAA finals.

Stanley Dancer was the top money winning harness driver at Yonkers, N. Y., Raceway last season. He took down $231,081 in purses.

Master's Is Test Of Power, Tourney's First Champ Says

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—As golf's brightest stars tuned up today for the silver jubilee Masters Tournament, the meet's very first champion said the storied Augusta National course now is a test of power rather than finesse.

Horton Smith, the aging, meticulous putter who won the inaugural show in 1934 and again triumphed in 1936, readied for Thursday's start of his 25th consecutive Masters. He sadly commented that the Augusta National "just isn't treacherous now."

"It still is a tremendous golf course," said Smith of the par 36-72 layout cradled in some 6,000 yards of horticultural splendor. "But within the past five years somehow it has called for more power than trickery."

Billy Casper, former U.S. Open champion and a ranking Masters' contender this year, also thinks the once-treacherous speed of Augusta's greens is gone to some degree.

"They are so well-matted now, they probably never will be as fast as they once were," said Casper, whose 3-under-par 67 practice round Monday indicated he'll be pressing to improve his fourth-place Masters' finish last year with 287.

Two other players also seeking their first Masters' title, Chick Harbert and Dick Chapman, fired 69s as most of the big guns in the expected field of more than 90 hand-picked entries tested the wind-swept course under leaden skies.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer, aiming for an unprecedented second successive Masters' title and his third in four years, came in with "a 71 or something like that."

Ken Venturi, who finished a stroke behind Palmer's winning 282 last year, also shot a 71, while 73s were carded by Ben Hogan, two-time Masters winner and holder of the meet record of 274 (1953); power-hitting Mike Souchak; Jay Hebert, and Walter Burkemo.

Rees Starts 16th Year As Kent's Grid Coach

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Trevor Rees started his 16th season as Kent State University's head football coach Monday and greeted a bumper turnout of 92 candidates for spring practice.

The list includes 12 lettermen from the 1960 club that won six of nine games. Rees' biggest problem is developing an interior line that was crippled by graduation losses.

Ohio Has Busy Sports Calendar During Year

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's stay-at-home vacationists have a big year of sports on tap.

Starting today with national AAU wrestling at Toledo, and running right up to Jan. 1 when Ohio State may keep a Rose Bowl date, an all-embracing sports program awaits the fans.

No matter when you take your vacation, something interesting will be happening inside the Buckeye borders.

Along with the regularly-scheduled sports fixtures—and some big ones are on the 1961 slate—Ohio offers such things as deep sea fishing in Lake Erie, musky fishing in the eastern sector and trout fishing in Mad River; rabbit, pheasant and quail hunting everywhere; hundreds of golf courses just waiting to be played; major league basketball: all-star football and basketball games; trapshooting, rifle and pistol championship events; the National Soap Box Derby, track-field meets at all levels, and national league football.

Take a look at this lineup, pick the things you want to see or take part in, and map your vacation accordingly:

Leaders Not Periled
In 31st Day Of ABC
DETROIT (AP)—The 31st day of the American Bowling Congress Tournament produced no serious threats to the leaders of the big tenpin circus' nine categories.

Chuck Winterstein, 34, operator of a Hammond, Ind., bowling center, supplied the only excitement in the classic division when he took third place in the singles with 673. He hardly imperiled Earl Johnson of Chicago who earned the lead last Wednesday with 733.

Everett Mackey, Painesville, Ohio, tied for fifth place in the regular singles with 684. The 44-year-old industrial printer rolled games of 241, 190 and 253 in his first ABC tournament.

Spring Drills Open
OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Nineteen lettermen, all but five of them linemen, are expected to be on hand today when the Miami University football team starts spring practice with 71 players.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Senior Citizens Influence Children

Most aged people are related in some way to growing children and directly or indirectly influence these children considerably. The way our children grow up is a fact and feel toward our aging relatives and other old folks will have much to do with the way they will act and feel toward us when we grow old.

Dr. Garry Meyers
In the United States, 16,000,000 persons are 65 or older. Within the next 24 hours about 3,000 more will be added. By 1970, at the present trend, the number will be 20,000,000.

Three-fifths of all persons over 65 have an income of less than $1,000 a year. One-fifth have more than $2,000, and about a tenth receive no personal income.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT seems to favor providing old folks with more public aid, and the trend is for their children to look after them less and less.

Some studies have revealed, however, that the bulk of worries by the senior citizens is not about material things. After spending long days worrying about himself he does overtime worrying about the world, about young people, about morals and religion.

Say Robert and Leona Rienow (in The Saturday Review, January 28th):

"What our retired elders yearn for more than anything else is involvement. They are crushed with the feeling of no longer being wanted, useful, or important to others."

Though a growing number of old folks prefer to be on their own, some like near or in families of growing children. We want our children to see us, their parents, show concern about the physical well-being and peace of mind of our aging parents and other aged close relatives; all old folks, indeed.

IN THIS direction we hope our children will emulate us, not for selfish reasons but because it's right.

Of course, these aging relatives, especially the grandparents, have an opportunity to help make it easy for our children to honor and respect them and be thoughtful and considerate of them. Although some of them are wonderful in their understanding and treatment of our children, not all are.

Let us parents take note and prepare ourselves now to win and maintain the esteem of our grandchildren when we become old. Let us not overlook the stabilizing influence grandparents may have now on our family, and the ambition to strive upward these grandparents may inspire in our children.

My bulletin "Suggestions to Grandparents" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Training Session For Scouts Closes

Seventeen members of Boy Scout Troop 43 have returned from the annual Easter training camp Thursday through Saturday at Camp McKinley in Lisbon.

The camp is held as a refresher course for the older boys in the troop and also to help train the new members in camp craft, cooking, hiking, wood lore, nature and other activities.

Food for the camp was provided by Jerry Hilyer, junior assistant scoutmaster, and Michael Silliman, life scout.

Bucky Alfred of the Eagle Patrol won first prize for a nature contest and Jerry Hilyer, also of the Eagles Patrol, won a prize in the flag capture contest.

Bill Chestnut was honored as a new scout in the troop and a birthday party was held for Joe Atwood.

Donald Wolf, scoutmaster, accompanied the boys. Visitors were Walt Silliman, assistant scoutmaster, Howard Merriman, Robert Haney, Ken Alford and Carl King.

The first people to use iron freely in the manufacture of tools and weapons, according to archaeologists, were the Assyrians. They had knives and saws of hardened steel. The art of hardening and tempering steel was a familiar one in Homer's time.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How do I go about "dip-painting"?
A. When dip-painting, withdraw the piece from the paint very slowly — not any faster than the flow of the paint and possibly a little slower. This prevents streaks and runs. Use quick-drying paints and enamels, which lessen the chance of drops or runs forming after the article has been removed.

Q. How can I iron sleeves that are too narrow for the regular ironing board?
A. Turn the sleeves wrong side out, fold and insert a towel to the width of the sleeve, then iron on both sides.

Q. How can I prevent patent leather shoes from cracking?
A. Rub the shoes all over occasionally with a light petroleum jelly put on with a soft flannel cloth. Leave over night, and then polish.

Q. In a section of human skin about the size of a postage stamp, there are three million cells, three feet of blood vessels, 12 feet of nerves, 100 sweat glands, 15 oil glands, and 25 nerve ends.

4 Buildings Razed In Jackson Blaze

JACKSON, Ohio (AP)—Fire in nearby Oak Hill Monday leveled four frame buildings. Unofficial estimates of loss ranged from $30,000 to $50,000. No one was injured.

Oak Hill Fire Chief Harvey Evans said he has no theory on how the fire started.

The office and storeroom buildings of Oak Hill Builders Supply, in whose lumber yard the fire started, the Yates Shoe Store, which had opened up a week before Easter and the Redmen Lodge meeting hall all burned to the ground.

In the Oak Hill Savings Bank about 50 yards from the scene, a window cracked due to the intense heat.

The 14-hour blaze was fought by the Oak Hill, Jackson and South Webster fire departments as well as Jackson County civil defense workers.

Ohio Churches Council Launches Conference

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Council of Churches' conference on food and peace programs opened this morning at the Ohio State Fairgrounds here.

Purpose of the conference is to discuss how the Food for Peace program, International Cooperation Administration and the Peace Corps are interrelated in the use of food for world peace. Churches and other groups have been asked to suggest how the programs ought to be shaped.

The hearing was conducted by Rankin M. Gibson, the governor's clemency secretary. Gibson gave the lawyer two weeks to get affidavits supporting his client's alibi.

Whitmer said Powell has been declared a delinquent and will be punished in Cleveland is not extradited. The attorney said Powell cashed forged Western Union money orders in Cleveland and Georgia last year.

'Where's Mommy,' She Asks

Girl, 6, On Train Which Carries Mother In Casket

BUTLER, Ga. (AP)—Lynn Marie Tupin, a 6-year-old Ohio girl, was en route home today on a train which carries her mother in a casket.

"Where's Mommy?" she had kept asking. But her father, 32-year-old Lynn Tupin of Columbia Station in Lorain County, Ohio, was too choked with grief to tell her.

Last Friday, Tupin was driving to Bradenton, Fla., with his wife and two of their four children. The family moved recently from Florida to Ohio, and the trip was made to pick up some belongings for their new home.

Five miles south of here the Tupin station wagon collided with a tractor, Mrs. Tupin, 32, was killed. Tupin and his 4-year-old son were hospitalized, the father with a zashed forehead and injured foot, the boy with a broken collar bone, contusions and abrasions.

Lynn Marie was unhurt except for some scratches. She was alone in this middle Georgia community with no one but strangers to comfort her.

Ward Edwards, son of a local undertaker, and his wife took the girl into their home and cared for her until her father could get back on his feet.

People in this small town, struck with compassion, organized shifts to sit up with Lynn's brother, Carter, who needed attention regularly.

Two residents took up a collection when they learned the Tupin family's finances were modest and that their car was uninsured. Some $200 was collected, nearly the amount of the hospital bill.

Through it all Lynn Marie kept asking for her mother. Tupin, unable to break the news, asked Mr. and Mrs. Edwards to do it. They told the girl her mother had gone to heaven.

Monday Tupin and his children boarded a train for Ohio. Also aboard was the body of Mrs. Tupin for some scratches. She was alone.

Time Limit Set For Affidavits On Boy's Alibi

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The attorney for 17-year-old James Ralph Powell of Cleveland has been given two weeks to obtain affidavits supporting the youth's alibi that he wasn't in McRae, Ga., last Jan. 5 when shopkeeper Vance Scurry was slain.

Powell is being held in a Cleveland jail as a fugitive from Georgia where he is wanted for questioning in the fatal shooting.

"The boy has never been in McRae; doesn't even know where it is," his attorney, Paul B. Whitmer, told an extradition hearing here Monday.

The Cleveland lawyer said Powell and his father visited relatives last January in Wrightsville, Ga. Several relatives are willing to swear that the boy did not leave the Wrightsville area, Whitmer added.

He asked that Gov. Michael V. DiSalle prevent the youth's return to Georgia.

The hearing was conducted by Rankin M. Gibson, the governor's clemency secretary. Gibson gave the lawyer two weeks to get affidavits supporting his client's alibi.

Whitmer said Powell has been declared a delinquent and will be punished in Cleveland is not extradited. The attorney said Powell cashed forged Western Union money orders in Cleveland and Georgia last year.

Bowling Green Students Complain To Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bowling Green State University students, including one who was expelled as a result of last week's three-day campus demonstration, took their grievances to the legislature Monday.

A half-dozen of them, including Susan Erickson, 20, of Dayton, the expelled student, explained their gripes to Sens. Lowell Fess, R-Greene, and Ross Papp, R-Alen. The senators said they had no plans of action other than listening to the complaints.

Miss Erickson was the only one who gave her name to newsmen. Accompanying the students was Glen Schmidt of St. Marys, a January graduate of Bowling Green. He said a Student Council meeting April 13 would have "a great effect on what is going to happen." He did not elaborate.

University President Ralph W. McDonald attempted to answer some of the students' criticism of university policy.

In letters sent Monday to the parents of each of Bowling Green's 6,000 on-campus students, McDonald said:

"Both the applicant (to the university) and his parents are urged to make a free, honest and mature judgment in advance as to whether the student believes in the university's policies and regulations and wishes to secure his education in a university governed by this code. . . .

"All students who are enrolled in the university this year received full information as to Bowling Green's policies and regulations in advance of their admission, and these matters were fully explained again during the orientation of new freshmen."

The prexy added that not more than 200 students were active in demonstrators. But, he added, "There were many more who joined 'just for fun' or thoughtlessly encouraged the demonstrations by standing around as on-lookers."

Eight of the students involved have been expelled. About 30 others will be interviewed by university officials after they return to campus this week.

WASHINGTON (AP)—England, France and the United States are teaming up in a program to launch and test communication satellites.

Under an agreement announced Monday, ground stations in Europe will use the satellites to transmit telephone, telegraph and television signals.

The satellites will be launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in 1962 and 1963 in projects Rebound and Relay.

Election Other Alternative

House Unit 'Maps' New Congressional District

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A subcommittee of the Ohio House literally is trying to map out a means of providing the state with a 24th congressional district.

It would be the area represented by the new congressman that Ohio gets as the result of population gains revealed in the 1960 census.

If legislators cannot agree on a way to create the new district, the 24th congressman would be elected at large. That is, all Ohio voters would be allowed to cast ballots, just as they do for the state's two U. S. senators.

Surrounded by enough maps to make it look like a navigators' convention, the subcommittee worked on the problem Monday night and plans to tackle it again today.

Any arrangement presumably has to be one with which Democrats will go along, because Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a democrat, doubtless would veto a proposal that gave any serious boost to Republican strength.

In other committee action Monday night, a House-approved bill plugging some gaps in the school bus inspection law had its first hearing in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The law presently requires inspection by the Ohio Highway Patrol of all school buses except those which operate without contract to public schools (an operator might make arrangements with parents, for example, or those carrying youngsters to and from private or parochial schools).

The bill would require patrol inspection of all school buses carrying 10 or more persons, would require the buses to be Painted the same shade of yellow for easy identification on the highway, and provides penalties for failure to comply.

Public transit company buses, sometimes used to carry students, are exempted because they come under Utilities Commission regulation.

Capt. M. A. Moch of the Highway Patrol said no additional men would be needed to handle the extra inspections. He said 8,884 buses were inspected last year, including many serving parochial schools which volunteered to be inspected. But there were 2,382 buses which the patrol had no authority to check, he added.

The House Industry and Labor Committee heard those favoring a bill to prohibit discrimination in public accommodations such as restaurants. Opponents will be heard tonight.

Richard E. Guggenheim, chairman of the Ohio Civil Rights Commission, said although the commission is four to five months behind because of volume of complaints, passage of the bill wouldn't seriously add to its workload.

Alleged public accommodation violation cases, he said, "are relatively clear-cut" and easier to investigate.

Also scheduled for another hearing today is a House bill which would remove newspapers, magazines and other publications entered as second-class matter at the post office from exemption from some laws dealing with obscenity.

Backers claim some questionable publications presently are exempted because they are entered at the post office as second-class matter, but that they actually are not distributed by mail. If they were, backers say, it would give postal authorities opportunity to check and perhaps remove second-class privileges.

Motion pictures at present are exempted if they are approved by a division of censorship. But, since Ohio has no such division, the bill would remove this terminology.

This would leave the movies subject to the "nuisance" law, from which newspapers and other publications which qualify for second-class privileges are exempted. Theaters might be shut down if authorities made an obscene or lewd film charge stick.

Plans for observance of International Barbershop Harmony Week Saturday through April 15 were reviewed at a meeting of the East Liverpool Chapter of Barbershop Singers Monday night at the Elks Lodge. Twenty-nine attended.

Donald Schussler, president, said a rehearsal will be held Wednesday night at 8 at Carpenters Hall for the annual Parade of Quartets Friday, April 14, at Westgate School auditorium. Glenn Woods, parade chairman, said tickets are on sale at Robin & Sant Clothing store.

Glenn Jarvis, chairman, said tickets still are available for the afterglow. William E. Brooks directed the chorus in selections for the parade.

The chapter will meet again Monday night at 8 at Carpenters Hall.
